

SIX CONVICTS EFFECT SENSATIONAL ESCAPE

CONSIDERED MOST DARING IN HISTORY OF PENITENTIARY

Pennsylvania Penal Home Minus Six Prisoners Who Ride Into Delaware and Rob Farmer of Money and Clothing—Escaped by Collapsible Ladder Made in Prison

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Six convicts today made one of the most daring escapes in the history of the Eastern State Penitentiary and up to tonight had not been caught. Several hours after the escape, six men wearing prison garb rode into Odgen, Del., in a red motor car, held up a farmer and robbed him of $200 and a quantity of clothing.

Prisoners and guards at the prison told how the six had plotted their escape. Some of the prisoners were employed in the carpenter shop and in the course of their work they made a cedar chest more than six feet long into which they smuggled a collapsible ladder that had been put together from time to time.

When the appointed hour for the escape came, the chest was carried to the prison yard by several of the convicts in the plot. This they were able to do as they were members of the "police gang" whose duty it was to keep the prison clean. They worked quietly and swiftly.

TO ELIMINATE TWELVE HOUR DAY DIRECTLY

Reported Entire Steel Industry to Follow E. H. Gary

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 14.—Elbert H. Gary today said that the United States Steel Corporation of which he is head plans within six weeks to begin eliminating the 12-hour day in its plants. It was reported in Wall Street that the rest of the industry would follow suit and that the pledge made to President Harding concerning the much attacked shift gradually would be redeemed.

Mr. Gary declared recently in an interview that increasing labor supplies from the negroes of the south, Mexico, the Philippines and abroad led him to believe that the initial steps would be taken soon, but still no time limit was mentioned.

Begin in Six Weeks

Today, however, Mr. Gary declared that "we shall probably commence actively taking steps to reduce the numbers of twelve hour workers within the next six weeks."

Declining to state the number of workers who would be affected within that period, Mr. Gary made it plain that a sudden and complete change was not to be expected.

CHICAGO TO BUILD HUGE HIGH SCHOOL

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 14.—Construction will begin in October of the largest high school in the United States. It will be situated in Chicago and is planned to cost $1,000,000, according to Charles M. Mollerwell, president of the board of education, who announced plans for the structure today.

The building will cover an eight and one-half acre site and will be a combination of Tudor and Gothic architecture. Plans call for a seating capacity of 4,076 pupils. The building will be ready for occupancy after the spring vacation in 1925.

Instructions Given To Support Johnson

(By The Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—The Workers Party of America, also known as the Communist Party of America, has issued instructions to all its Minnesota members to support Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Laborite in the senatorial election July 16, according to the St. Paul Dispatch.

HARDING LOUD IN PRAISE OF ALASKA PAPERS

Party Now at Anchorage—Eats in Construction Camp

(By The Associated Press)
ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 14.—President Harding traveling over the Alaska railroad from Seward to Fairbanks today inspected the Chickaloon mines where the American navy made its first experiment, generally regarded as unsuccessful, in the production of coal.

The presidential train was run up from Matanuska, on the main line 20 miles north of Anchorage, during the night and after breakfast aboard, President Harding in company with Secretaries Hoover and Work inspected the properties. These were rendered inoperative after the navy department, following a policy set in 1917, had expended about a million dollars. The president was told that the coal, which is a soft anthracite, was available in large quantities, but that the cost of production was too great. The party saw thousands of dollars worth of machinery rusting away and a deserted village of about 20 houses and bungalows with electric lights, water, and a ball park.

ABOARD President Harding's Special Train, Alaska Railroad, July 14.—Several hundred persons welcomed President Harding at Anchorage today. They gathered around a stand erected in the center of the city, and presented the president and his wife a painting of Mount McKinley, North America's highest peak, which could be seen just 125 miles from Anchorage. Mr. Harding also was given a paper knife with a gold handle and a walrus-ivory blade.

The president in an informal address referred to the fact that Anchorage was founded in 1915.

Anchorage Fine Town.

"It is the best nine year old town I have ever seen," he said. He assured his auditors that the visitors to the nation's farthest north had convinced him and the three cabinet officers with him that if the present generation should fail to see its dreams for Alaska realized its children would certainly have their aspirations fulfilled.

The dinner at Tunnel yesterday, the president declared, was the finest served his party since they left Washington. The meal was served in a railroad construction camp. It included grape fruit, fried chicken, custard pie and ice cream.

Excellent Newspapers.

One of the marvels of Alaska, President Harding said in Anchorage yesterday, was the size and quality of the daily newspapers. He pronounced them equal to journals published in the states in cities of 50,000.

"I got the surprise of my life in Anchorage today," he said. "I bought three newspapers and gave the boy a half dollar telling him to keep the change. Afterward, I learned that newspapers in Alaska were ten cents each. If I had not held of the quarter for which I fished in my pocket when I went to pay the boy I would have been in disfavor all over Alaska."

BUY MONTICELLO FOR JEFFERSON MEMORIAL

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 14.—The purchase of Monticello by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation has been arranged with the present owner, Jefferson M. Levy.

The estate consisting of a mansion, 648 acres, and numerous historical relics will change hands for $500,000.

A national campaign to raise $1,000,000 to complete the design and establish a fund to maintain the estate has been started by the foundation.

Presidential Race Named Free-For-All

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 14.—There is no reason why Henry Ford, Detroit manufacturer, should not enter the 1924 presidential race if he desires to be a candidate, according to William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, who passed thru Chicago today on his way to New York.

"The presidential race is the great American free-for-all," Mr. McAdoo said when a newspaper reporter asked him what he thought of Ford's chances. "I see no reason why he should not enter if he desires to be a candidate."

The former secretary said that he had made no statement in Kansas City last night, as reported, that he had not decided if he would seek the nomination for the presidency. He said that he had not discussed politics while in Kansas City.

"My trip is a business one and it is important enough to bring me clear across the continent in mid-summer," he said. "I am not discussing politics at all on this trip."

MILLION AND HALF DOLLARS IS FIRE LOSS IN MONTANA

Work of Rebuilding Devastated District is Begun

(By The Associated Press)
WALLACE, Idaho, July 14.—With the ashes of yesterday's and last night's million and a half dollar fire still smoldering where the busy little mining towns of Burke and Mace, Idaho, stood, work of removing the debris was undertaken late today by the Hecla Mining company and property owners of the devastated tract.

Several months will be required to rebuild the plant of the Hecla. It will be a year before the normal production of the mine will be restored according to an announcement at the office of the company.

Electric power lines to Burke have been built but because of the great heat at the opening of the mine it is thought that it will be several days before the pumps can be started to prevent the rise of water in the mine.

Robbery and Looting

Merchants today reported that their stores were robbed and looted when the fire began its devastating progress. Little was saved by either residents or merchants, and the mail in the Burke post office carried as far as the middle of the street and then abandoned before the onslaught of the flames, was burned.

ENGINE EXPLODES; TWO ARE KILLED

(By The Associated Press)
CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, July 14.—Engineer S. Schull and Fireman C. E. White, both of Boone, Iowa, were killed at noon today in the Northwestern yards at the edge of Belle Plain, Iowa, when a freight engine exploded. Schull's body was blown to bits parts of it being picked up a block away. The body of White was jammed between the floor of the engine and the tender.

He was killed by a piece of the flying boiler piercing his skull.

The boiler and engine, cab were ripped loose and hurled thru the air. Pieces fell a hundred feet ahead of the engine. The rails were badly twisted.

Cause of the explosions has not been determined.

CALL TO OBSERVE LAFAYETTE BIRTHDAY

New York, July 14.—Issuing a call to all to observe Lafayette's birthday and an anniversary of the Battle of the Marne, the Lafayette Day National committee today recommended that municipalities and all patriotic societies to see that the tri-color of France designed by the illustrious Frenchman, be raised along with the Stars and Stripes on the date, September 6.

SOCIALISTS AND POLICE CLASH IN MUNICH

(By The A. P.)
Munich, July 14.—Several persons were injured and many arrests were made in a clash here today between the police and a large number of national socialists following a meeting at which Adolf Hitler, the Nationalist leader, and other speakers attacked the government. A fight ensued when the police attempted to seize the Nationalists' banners.

OPPOSING COUNSEL CONTINUE ARGUMENT OVER INSTRUCTIONS

Trial of Alleged Jury-Fixers in Small Case Ending

(By The Associated Press)
WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 14.—Argument in chambers between opposing counsel over instructions to the jury marked today's progress in the trial of alleged jury fixers charged with having corrupted the panel, which acquitted Governor Len Small in his trial here last night. The fourth week of the present trial in which John B. Fields, a member of the Small jury and Eddie Courtney and Eddie Kaufman alleged "fixers" are in court together, is expected to end the case.

According to present plans the closing argument of state's attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county, will begin Monday morning. Mr. Smith probably will be followed by Thomas Simmes, Assistant State's Attorney General, representing Attorney General Brundage in the prosecution.

Assistant State's Attorney Sidney H. Block, is the third attorney for the state.

Plans no Argument.

The defense plan to make no argument on their case.

Priming of instructions for the jury today brought about numerous clashes between counsel. The plank touching upon the credibility of the testimony of Thomas E. Somerville, the state's chief witness who is alleged by the defense to be insane precipitated such an animated discussion that it went over for future consideration. Judge Jacob Hopkins informed the jury informally today that they probably would be given the case Tuesday. The panel has been locked up in the custody of the sheriff since the trial began on June 25.

U. S. FILES LIEN FOR BIG WAR TAX

(By The Associated Press)
GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 14.—A federal lien for $5,820 being the war tax on $58,200 worth of tickets sold to the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship bout in Shelby on July 4, was filed today by Collector of Internal Revenue Rasmussen against James A. Johnson and Loy Molumby.

The lien is filed to cover all property of the defendants and is in addition to the sum already paid the government for tickets sold and heretofore unaccounted for.

Mr. Johnson is mayor of Shelby and is reputed to have been loser to the extent of over $100,000 on the bout. He was treasurer of the promotion organization.

Mr. Molumby is state commander of the American Legion for Montana, and was promoter of the heavyweight contest.

BELVIDERE IS VISITED BY A SEVERE FIRE

Loss $100,000—Rockford Department Aids Effectively

(By The Associated Press)
ROCKFORD, Ill., July 14.—In response to appeals from Belvidere, 14 miles east of here, Rockford Fire Department late this afternoon sent several pieces of fire apparatus in charge of Chief Thomas Blake to that town where a fire in the yards of the Louis Silver & Co. junk dealers, was assuming the proportions of a conflagration.

Twenty-four residences were reported a flame from jump fires. A strong northwest breeze carried blazing embers more than a mile and Belvidere fire fighters were unable to cope with the many roof fires resulting.

Rockford firemen making the 14 mile run in 17 minutes arrived in time to stop a conflagration.

Rockford's Assistance.

With streams from two pumping engines on the main fire manned by Rockford firemen, Belvidere fire fighters were able to cope with the alarms coming from residences.

The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Almost entire service of the Belvidere Telephone company was cut off by the blaze which melted a main feed cable. Traffic on the Galena Division of the Northwestern Railroad was halted.

The railroad station was ablaze several times but suffered only damage to its roof. The Belvidere lumber company had the most serious jump fire, damage to buildings and stock amounting to about $3,000.

Firemen Exhausted.

Belvidere firemen exhausted by the heat and the continuous running and dragging hose to roof fires scattered thru the residential area were replaced by volunteers.

At six o'clock the main fire still was burning briskly but was reported under control by Rockford and Belvidere fire officials.

Destruction to the Silver junk yard will be complete. Damage there was high because large stocks of salvaged automobile tires and similar valuable salvaged material were in the store houses.

Insurance carried by Silver was small.

Origin of the fire is unknown but believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. It started in a stock of baled paper.

Chief Ray Clark of the Belvidere Department announced an investigation would be started at once.

PART OF ATTENTION RUM RUNNERS HAVE HAD GOES TO CIDER

Fruit Juice Regulations Now Under Revision and Will be Issued Soon—To Make Clear Whether it is Ever Permissible to Have Cider On Hand, and When

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 14.—For the moment prohibition officers have diverted some of their attention away from rum runners and wet Atlantic liners and are preparing to overhaul the regulations relating to cider.

A communication from the prohibition bureau today said that the fruit juice regulations are now "under revision and would be issued in the near future."

Officials would add no details, but by way of preliminary advice the bureau gave out the substance of a legal opinion on the subject prepared by James G. Britt, its chief counsel. The statement was in the form of a primer and was supposed to make perfectly clear when, if ever, it is permissible to have on hand hard cider and why. It follows:

"The word 'cider' shall mean the expressed juice of whole, fresh, sound ripe apples, exclusive of any extraneous or foreign matter and without regard to the fermentation or alcoholic content thereof, unless otherwise indicated by the context.

"'Sweet cider' is the fresh juice obtained by the first pressing of whole, fresh, sound ripe apples.

"'Preserved sweet cider' is sweet cider as defined above in which alcoholic fermentation is prevented or materially retarded upon pressing, of U. S. P. benzoate of soda in the proportion of not less than four to four and one-half avoirdupois ounces to each barrel of not exceeding fifty wine gallons capacity or (2) by pasteurizing or sterilizing and immediately placing same in small, impervious, sterile, sealed containers such as bottles or jugs.

"The presence of 4 per cent of acetic acid will be considered as constituting the article 'vinegar' and the presence of as much as 12 per cent of acetic acid will be considered 'vinegar stock.' Other acetic solutions of similar strength made from malt, etc., shall also be considered to be vinegar or vinegar stock."

Commercial Product

"In order to manufacture commercially a permit must be obtained and bond given in accordance with the customary regulations of the department. The production of non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices in the home is not controlled in the same manner. Permits are not required unless the cider or fruit juices are sold to vinegar manufacturers. Under section 29 of the act cider may be produced for use in the home for culinary and other non-beverage purposes and may be retained without permit until it develops into vinegar or may be sold to vinegar manufacturers under permit as vinegar stock."

TAMMANY HEAD SAYS CAME OUT WEST TO PLAY

Reported was to Discuss Smith Candidacy with Taggart

(By The Associated Press)
FRENCH LICK, Ind. June 14.—Charles F. Murphy, Tammany Hall chieftain who arrived here last night from New York conferred here today with Thomas Taggart, the Indiana Democratic leader, but no announcement followed their meeting.

According to New York reports Murphy came here to confer with Taggart and George E. Brennan, the Chicago Democratic chief on the proposed candidacy of Governor Al Smith of New York for the Democratic nomination for president.

Come to Play Golf.

Brennan, however, failed to put in an appearance and Murphy declared he had come to French Lick to "play a round" and not to talk politics. Both Taggart and Murphy declared they had no engagement here with Brennan and records at the hotels failed to show that Mr. Brennan had made any reservations.

Mr. Murphy indicated that his talk with Mr. Taggart today was purely social and had no political significance. Reports continued, however, that Mr. Murphy's trip to Indiana was made to sound out sentiment in favor of the New York chief executive.

The Tammany Hall chieftain told newspapermen today that he expected to spend a week or ten days here.

NEW OIL GUSHER IN CALIFORNIA

(By The Associated Press)
LONG BEACH, Calif., July 14.—What was said to be the largest oil gusher in the history of Southern California fields was brought in today in the Signal Hill district by the E. K. Miley company. The initial flow was variously estimated at between 28,000 and 32,000 barrels a day. A well known as "Miley Mills No. 4" was brought in at 4,690 feet and the oil tested 28 gravity. During the first hour and a half the well produced more than 1,750 barrels according to company officials.

The average golfer walks more on the green than a postman does on his route. But somehow the golfer does not get half so tired.

A lot of this talk about Henry Ford for president comes from people who in times past have rabidly opposed the idea of a rich man becoming chief executive officer of the nation.

If Governor Preuss of Minnesota had only arranged for somebody to push the price of wheat upward during recent days his chances of election to the senate would be vastly improved.

We agree with the suggestion that Mr. Haynes as national prohibition officer can find plenty to do in this state, especially along the coast, instead of devoting a part of his efforts to the high seas.

The state proposes to build a model tourist camp at Starved Rock. Various cities are improving the facilities of their tourist camps from season to season. The next thing the hotel men will be objecting because their business is being interfered with. The camps may become so attractive that the hotels suffer.

If officials would go after bootleggers in the Jacksonville and Morgan county way all over the country there wouldn't be so much talk about the non-enforcement of the prohibition law. Bootleggers will grow constantly more wary in their violations here as they see the determination of officers to "catch them" and the disposition of courts to make the punishment effective.

Just what should be done with reference to the operation of Oak Lawn next year is a question the county board must face. The records show that operation of the sanatorium is making a tremendous hole in the general taxes of the county. Last year nearly one-third of the taxes went to this good cause. While the cause is good, the amount of expenditure is out of proportion to the total available for county purposes.

FATAL BALLOON RACES.

The last government balloon race—this one conducted by the navy—resulted in fatalities as usual, costing the lives of two lieutenants and destroying two balloons. The balloons can be spared, but how about the men? There may be some sound scientific reason for continuing such "experiments," but the average citizen finds them hard to understand except as dangerous and rather pointless sporting events. The big gas bags drift at the will of the wind. There is a little power of control by sacrificing ballast or gas to raise or lower the bags, but these possibilities are soon exhausted. Helpless balloonists are often blown out of their course into uninhabited regions, sometimes far out to sea, or dropped into some inland lake or river. Always there is danger in landing.

Is anything really learned about air currents, temperature, etc., by such methods which cannot be learned just as well, and more safely, with aircraft driven by their own power and subject to the pilot's will? Or do the army and navy just keep up the game, started before the airplane was invented, because it is an established institution?

SUCCESSFUL PROHIBITION.

A member of the cabinet of one of the provinces of Holland and a representative of the Dutch Society for the Abolition of Alcohol Drinks have recently returned to their own country after an extensive study of prohibition enforcement and public opinion in 25 different states here. The conclusions are of genuine interest. They write:

"While we have recognized that prohibition is not perfectly observed or enforced any more than the Ten Commandments are perfectly observed or your laws against stealing or murder are perfectly enforced, yet by way of contrast with Continental Europe it was plainly apparent that prohibition is already a thorough, practical success, with every indication that it is becoming more willingly observed and more effectively enforced."

"One thing, however, which it seems the average American who believes in prohibition and is interested in the fight to abolish the saloons is ignorant of, is that the liquor interests are apparently very busy in an attempt to regain control. It seems to us that you people are complacently letting the liquor people rob you of the great benefits of your dry law—benefits which perhaps are more apparent to outsiders than to yourselves."

This is no doubt a very good criticism of the American attitude. Yet a change has begun, perhaps even while these men are investigating. Citizens who believe in prohibition are waking up to the fact that they cannot sit back and let this particular law run itself any more safely than they can let any other law do so. Continuous, whole-hearted support and the intelligent backing of all loyal citizens is necessary in the enforcement of any law or deal of government.

NEGROES FINED FOR

ATTACK ON AGED MAN
Buck Taylor and Hudson Wallace, who have been held at the local police station for several days charged with beating up Harvey Montgomery, were brought before Justice A. B. Opperman yesterday and each fined $25 and costs. Montgomery, who nearly 70 years of age, has since been confined to the hospital on account of injuries received in the attack. However, he is greatly improved and his injuries are not considered serious.

PIKE COUNTY LAWYER

WAS SELF-MADE MAN

Attorney L. J. Dyer, Who Died Recently, Went to School With Own Children—Facts of Life Are Given

L. J. Dyer, Pike county attorney who died recently at his home near Independence, Pike county, was one of the most interesting men within a range of many miles.

His education was achieved after he was married and the father of children of school age. Daily he trudged to the country school house near his home in the company of his sons, Edgar and Simon.

Mr. Dyer, who was a brother of Mrs. Olive Jefferson, of Woodson and step-father of Mrs. Oma Boyd Bergschneider of this city, was born in Granger county, Tennessee, on July 8, 1838. In 1841 his parents moved the family to this city, then a small town of 3,000 souls. His early years were spent here and in 1860 transferred his residence to Pike county. At the outbreak of the war of the rebellion he enlisted in Company E of the 99th Illinois Volunteers. He served with his regiment thruout the war, in the rank of corporal, and later sergeant. He was severely wounded before Vicksburg, his left arm being permanently disabled when a bullet entered the wrist and bored up to the elbow, destroying the bones of the forearm.

After acquiring the rudiments of an education he entered the law school of Washington university in St. Louis. He graduated there and was admitted to the bar by the Supreme Court of Illinois in 1873. He opened an office shortly after and practiced his profession in the courts of Pike county for many years.

Knew Lincoln

Mr. Dyer always thought that one of the high spots of his life was when, as a small boy, he sat on the lap of Abraham Lincoln, in the latter's office in Springfield. He was often proud of showing a copy of the Lincoln-Douglas debates that was given him at that time by Lincoln, with the great Emancipator's name signed, and linked with his own, on the fly leaf.

In politics Mr. Dyer was consistently a Republican, boasting always for that party's welfare.

He had one of the longest memories of any citizen of Pike county and was one of the best informed men on the history of this part of Illinois alive.

Mr. Dyer was married three times. His first wife was Vesty Tenycke. His second wife was Emma Fuller. In 1904 he was married to Mrs. Lelah Boyd of Jacksonville who survives him. He became the father of five children, four of whom are living, namely: Lyman Edward, who is justice of the peace at Nebo; Simon L. and Effie B., both of whom are in Montana; and Ira, who is at home. Lyman Edward and Simon L. are twins. A son, Charles, died many years ago and is buried at Pisgah, in Morgan county. There is also surviving, a step-daughter, Mrs. Oma Boyd Bergschneider of Jacksonville. A sister, Mrs. Olive Jefferson of Woodson, Ill., is the only surviving member of the family of 13 children. She was older than Mr. Dyer and unable to attend the funeral.

CHAUTAUQUA

Twelfth Annual Assembly Will Open August 17—Superior Musical Numbers, High Class Entertainment and Lecturers of National Fame on Program—Tent Colony Will Be Large

The chautauqua directors are busy with the plans for the 1923 assembly at Nichols Park. Jacksonville Independent Chautauqua ranks among the best in the country and for 12 consecutive years the people of Morgan and adjacent counties have had brought to them superior musical organizations, lecturers and entertainers whose platform success have had general approval and nation-wide recognition.

The chautauqua dates are August 17 to 26. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin will have a worth while message on the opening day and in the evening a company of New York artists will present the drama "Turn to the Right." The Community band will be heard in concert both afternoon and evening on the opening day.

Among the other attractions will be Sidney Smith (Andy Camp of the Tribune); Count Tolstoy; Dr. Clinton H. Howard, William Rainey Bennett, Senator Gore, Governor Charles Brough, Dr. Ira Lindroth, Reno masochist and expert illusionist, Caveny, cartoonist and crayon artist, Frank Armistage in clever character portrayals and the Gray Wolf.

The Baradell Light Opera company will be a stellar attraction. Vierra's Hawaiians will give their unique concert using special lighting effects. Louis Williams will dazzle in his celebrated lecture and demonstrations entitled "Wonders of Electricity." Brown's Juvenile Singers, Neapolitan Serenaders, Harp Ensemble company, Apollo Concert company and the big Community band and Elks' quartet will leave nothing wanting in the line of musical entertainment.

Morgan County Day

Wednesday, August 22, has been designated as Morgan County Centennial and Old Settlers' Day. A program of special local interest is in course of preparation. On this day two gold medals will be presented, one to the oldest man resident of Morgan county and one to the oldest woman resident of Morgan county. Persons eligible to these medals must register at the secretary's tent on or before Wednesday noon, August 22. An appropriate Morgan county centennial badge will be given to all residents who have lived in Morgan county 75 years. As Cass and Scott counties were originally a part of Morgan, residents in these counties are eligible to the gold medals and the centennial badge. A professional pageant featuring the pioneers will be a part of the afternoon program. The Community band will play afternoon and evening, the Elks' quartet will give two concerts and in the evening Caveny the clever cartoonist will bring to a close a day that is hopeful to make memorable in the history of the county.

The tent colony this year gives promise of being larger than ever and a special effort is being made to make the assembly grounds attractive to campers. The morning program at the assembly is not being overlooked and an interesting announcement in this connection may be made in a few days.

The dining hall at the chautauqua, always an attractive feature of the assembly, will again be managed by the Pastoral Helpers of the Central Christian church. The fine service, the excellent menu and the splendid management that has characterized the dining hall in past years may be anticipated in 1923.

Make your plans now to attend the Jacksonville chautauqua, bigger and better than ever. Remember the dates, August 17 to 26.

CARS IN COLLISION.

A Ford car driven by Charles Short and one of the same make driven by Charles Leake collided at the corner of North Prairie and West LaPayette avenue at 1:30 p. m. yesterday. Both cars were slightly damaged but were able to proceed to garages for repairs. Neither of the occupants were injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morgan were representatives of Murrayville on the streets of the city yesterday.

GAME LAW CHANGES

OF PUBLIC INTEREST

State Is Divided Into Zones Owing to Variation in Season, These Zones Governing Laws.

Several changes of more or less importance in the game and fish laws became effective July 1st.

On account of the state being about 385 miles long from north to south, the southern part has an earlier spring than the northern. For that reason the state has been divided into three zones, the northern, southern and central zones, this part of the state being located in the central zone.

It is now unlawful to kill squirrels in this zone until August 1st, in the northern zone, September 1st, and the southern zone, July 1st.

It is also unlawful to kill: Doves except between September 1st and 30th inclusive. Daily limit, 15.

Cock pheasants except between November 10th and 15th inclusive. Daily limit, 2.

Quail (no change). Prairie chickens except between November 10th and 20th. Daily limit, 3.

Water fowl including ducks, (no change in time or limit).

Rabbits, except between November 10th and January 1st inclusive. Daily limit, 15. Hunting licenses are unchanged but penalties are increased.

Commercial size of all catfish except bullheads has been reduced from 15 inches to 13 inches undressed or 9 inches dressed.

It is unlawful to take black bass under the length of 10 inches. Daily limit, 10 for each person, and can be taken with hook and line only. Sale prohibited.

For the purpose of supplying funds for the building of hatcheries and making state fishing grounds, a license fee of fifty cents per year for all persons over 21 years will be charged for fishing. These licenses, like the hunting licenses, will not be in the hands of the clerks before the 15th or 20th of July or possibly later, and for that reason leniency will be shown until the public has had sufficient time to obtain the licenses after they are issued.

Queer Shaped Auto Cuts Down
Head Resistance to the Wind

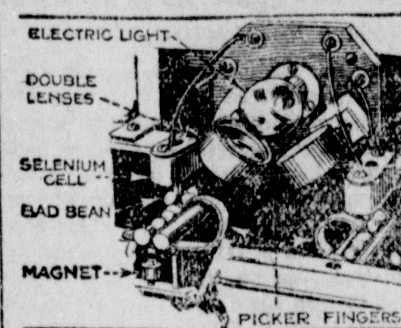

Concentrating their attention on scientific streamlining, Franco-British engineers have designed a most unusually shaped automobile which, they believe, will prove very speedy, since head resistance to the wind has been cut down considerably. The body is built of duraluminum, a new light alloy, and aluminum on a system like that used in making airplane fuselages. The under part of the car is incased in sheet aluminum, only the brake drums and axles projecting. Entrance is gained to the car—powered by a six-cylinder motor developing 200 horsepower—by a side panel, and by a part of the roof and a section of the fender being hinged and, so, easily raised. The entire car weighs only about 3,000 pounds.

Bonfires to Signal Amundsen's Start

When Captain Roald Amundsen, the Arctic explorer, hops off on his flight across the North Pole, on or about June 20, a system of signal fires or bonfires will carry the word of his start from Wainwright to the nearest radio station, some 400 miles away. From the radio station the word will be sent to the scout planes at Spitzbergen, which are to be on the lookout to render any possible assistance on his arrival at that point.

Farmer Sorts Bad Beans from Good Without Touching Them

If all the beans grown in the United States in a single year were placed end to end they would form a chain of 19 strands connecting the earth and the moon. Imagine having to pick out every tenth or twentieth bean from such strings. However, something quite similar occurs in sorting the bean crop every year, for the bad ones have to be picked out before marketing the product.

Ray F. McWilliams, a Michigan farmer, seeing his profits being wiped out because of the primitive and time-consuming method of sorting beans by hand, set about to simplify this work. He learned that a mineral (celenium) was sensitive to changes in light upon it, resulting in a small variation in its electrical conductivity. Utilizing selenium cells, he designed a novel machine that sorts 15 bushels of beans an hour, performing the work of 50 people with more than human accuracy.

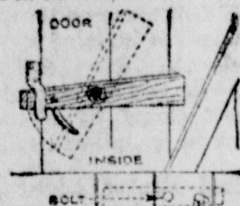

The beans are placed in a trough at the top of the machine from which they are fed by small wheels through a series of hoppers until they pass out in single file along a pair of horizontal feed rollers. A selenium cell is placed over each pair of rollers, and is so inclined that it receives light only through a tube, the lower end of which is directly over the moving string of beans. As the beans pass under the tube each one receives a flood of light from an electric bulb, which is focused upon it through a double lens. When a discolored bean comes into range the selenium cell responds to the change in color, causing a magnet to close, thus raising a finger which pushes the bad bean from the rollers, while the good beans pass on into a bin and are then ready for market.

Self-acting Door Latch

A door latch for barns and granaries should be certain in action, so that the door cannot open accidentally after being shut. A simple wooden self-acting latch of the kind shown in the drawing has been found entirely suitable.

It consists of a single piece of wood, tapering from 4 in. to about 2 in. in width, so that one end will be much heavier than the other. It is bolted to the door loosely and slightly off center, so that the heavy end always tends to swing down. A curved slot is cut in the door, and a wooden pin, fastened in the latch, passes through the slot so that the door can be opened from the outside. When the door is closed and the latch is released, it swings to the closed position.

RECEIVERSHIP IS FACED BY LARGE MORTGAGE COMPANY

Has Sold Stocks to More Than Eighty Thousand

(By The Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—The R. L. Dollings companies of Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania and the International Note & Mortgage Company, a Dollings subsidiary for which between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000 worth of stock is said to have been sold to more than 80,000 persons throughout the United States, today was faced with receivership proceedings.

Thirteen stockholders of the companies brought action in common pleas court here asking:

That a receiver be appointed for the four companies.
That a complete investigation be made into the books, records and assets of the companies to "determine their solvency."
That stock subscriptions be declared null and void.

That the amount of money paid by the plaintiffs for certificates of stock be made a debt and obligation of the defendant's corporations and subsidiaries and that the judgment be awarded the plaintiffs for this amount and the remainder be divided among other stockholders.

The plaintiffs also ask that William G. Benham, president of the Ohio company and Dwight Harrison, vice president and secretary as well as all other officers be enjoined from disposing of property or assets of the defendant companies.

Arbitrary Dividends.
The petition alleges that the companies have been declaring dividends arbitrarily regardless of whatever they have earned that dividends have been paid of the capital assets of the subsidiary companies and not from earned profits and that they have been paying large operating deficits for certain of its subsidiaries.

Hearing on the application will be held next Friday.

The petition alleges that the R. L. Dollings company of Ohio has no assets but stock and securities owned by its subsidiaries, except cash in hand, the amount of which is unknown and therefore "it has no earning capacity, except thru dividends and commissions."

Interest in a picture of the children that made today, grows as they grow.

CANNOT EXPLAIN SYMBOLS

Cryptic Markings Discovered in Ancient English Hotel Have Proved Puzzle to Scientists.

Who were the writers of the cryptic symbols which have been discovered on the walls of the ancient Star hotel at Yarmouth, England? There are about 100 of the signs. They are all in one room, and for hundreds of years they have been hidden by wallpaper. Local antiquarians are puzzled by the designs, which include signs of the Zodiac, a sextant pointing to a cross surmounting a burning lamp, an Egyptian "line of life" figures that resemble a bear, a wyvern and a toad, while predominating over all are the triangle, the arc and the circle.

An authority at the British museum could offer no clue to the origin of the symbols, and for the want of a better explanation local people are advancing the theory that the room in which they appear was once the meeting place of a number of Yarmouth men, banded together for the overthrow of the authority of Cinque Ports over the local fishing industry.

This episode in the history of the east coast dates back to about 1600, when the inn was a comparatively new building, and it may be that the members of their band, to preserve the secrecy of their identity, were known by "tokens," which they inscribed upon a roll on the wall.

EMBROIDERY IS OLD ART

Has Been Practiced for Ages Among
Both Civilized and Savage Peoples.

Embroidery is the art of ornamenting cloth and other materials with the needle. Most of the embroideries made today are usually copies of the ancient ones.

Embroidery is believed to have been applied to skins almost as soon as needle and thread were first employed to join pieces of skins together into garments. In Lapland the natives embroider their reindeer skin clothing with needle of reindeer bone, three of reindeer sinew and applique of strips of hide.

Travelers say that in Central Africa, among the primitive tribes there, the girls embroider skins with figures of flowers and animals, supplementing the effect with shells and feathers.

Among the ancient Greek textiles exhumed from Crimean graves are both tapestries and embroideries now preserved in the hermitage at Petrograd. One of the embroideries is attributed to the Fourth century B. C. and is in colored wools on wool.

Spider Bites.

In the warm parts of Spain and Italy there is a brown spider the size of a chestnut, called the tarantula. A somewhat similar spider in Mexico got the same name from the early Spanish explorers. There is an old story of the danger of its bite and that tarantulas coming North on a bunch of bananas have killed people in the United States.

One story that it produced epilepsy and a kind of dancing madness certainly prevailed in the Middle Ages. This, it was claimed, could be cured by special music. Many experiments have been made as to the effect of these spider bites. One distinguished entomologist actually allowed various species of spiders to bite his hand. Some of these drew blood, giving a sensation like that of a sharp needle prick. The wounds smarted and swelled somewhat and itched when rubbed, producing very much the sensation of mosquito bites, but no permanent ill-effects followed.

Chinese Suspension Bridges.
The Chinese have been acquainted with suspension bridges from time immemorial. Their most ancient historians write of bridges hung on iron chains or on rattan. Such structures seemed strange to the missionaries who reached China. They called them "flying bridges" and one recounts his horror as he felt the bridge swing beneath his steps as he crossed a deep chasm.

In Europe people ridiculed these travelers' tales and treated the accounts of the missionaries as mere stories. Later on, when they received verification, the attitude of distrust persisted, and the old bridges, dangling on their rusty chains, were held in derision. Then came forgetfulness, and when in 1823, the suspension bridge was introduced in Europe, not on rusty chains, but on new steel cables, people applauded the engineer's amazing ingenuity.

Chinese Supreme in Alloys.
German silver is merely an imitation of an invention long known in China under the name of pai tong, or white steel, which is obtained by fusing red steel with arsenic. The Chinese have long been past masters in the art of making alloys.

Gongs and tom-toms, with their perfect tones, whose origin is mingled with the legendary origin of their inventors, have stirred experts to admiration and in vain have they tried to imitate them. Chemical analysis has determined the composition of the tom-toms, but the details of their manufacture, the knack of the artisan, remain mysteries. It is the same with those vases of ancient bronze, so treasured by collectors.

Something New in Botany.
A certain teacher, proud of the way in which she had instructed her class in botany, told the examiner to call on any scholar and to ask whatever question he pleased on the subject.

It happened that the first pupil selected was a newcomer who had attended only two lectures.

Asked to name some botanical terms, he replied: "Please, sir, I know only two—aurora borealis and delirium tremens."

BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, July 14.—Railroad proposals to increase furniture rates from factories in and around Chicago and the Mississippi valley to the principal cities in Colorado were held up today by the interstate commerce commission. The roads were ordered to suspend their new schedules until November 12 to await an investigation.

Chicago, July 14.—The four University of Chicago students arrested in connection with the death of Mrs. Elsie Campbell, a waitress who is believed to have leaped from a window of one of the student's rooms, were discharged by Judge Borrelli today. They were charged with disorderly conduct, but Judge Borrelli said he had no evidence on which to hold or sentence them.

The inquest into the girl's death was continued yesterday until July 31 in an effort to locate her relatives.

Harrisburg, Ill., July 14.—Search for James Greer, one of the miners entombed by an explosion in Wasson No. 1 mine on Thursday morning, was continued all last night and this morning. Six men of a rescue team were given first aid treatment when they came out of the mine, dithered in the air in the shaft. Many miners and their families, including the family of Greer, are keeping constant watch at the shaft in the hope that Greer may still be alive.

Freeport, Ill., July 14.—Twelve cars of a Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul freight train were derailed and piled in a ditch near Shannon, Ill., 20 miles west of Freeport, early today. Several tramps were known to have been riding the train, but the crew expressed belief that no one was injured. The cause of the derailment is not known.

Chicago, July 14.—The motion picture for a new trial for Mrs. Sabella Nitti Crudelle and her husband, charged with the murder of the woman's husband, Frank Nitti, was over-ruled here today. Both Mrs. Crudelle and Peter Crudelle, her husband, were sentenced to be hanged on Friday, October 12.

Galesburg, July 14.—The Raritan State bank, 30 miles south-west of here, was robbed at 1:30 o'clock this morning by five bandits, who blew open the safe. The robbers got $3,500 in cash and escaped in an automobile going east. A family across the street saw the bandits at work but did not dare give the alarm until they had left town.

Philadelphia, July 14.—Clarence B. Sweet of Bluefield, W. Va., president of the National Lumber company, was found dead today at the bottom of an air shaft of the Bellevue Stratford hotel where he had a room on the fifth floor.

Chicago, July 14.—Two children, two women and a man were killed here yesterday in automobile accidents bringing the total since January first to 353 in Chicago and Cook county.

Kansas City, Mo., July 14.—George C. Hale, 73, former chief of the fire department here noted throughout America for his inventions of fire fighting apparatus, died today.

New York, July 14.—A birthday party special train left today for Deal Beach, N. J., bearing Ferdinand W. Peck, of Chicago, president of the World's Fair association in 1893, and 300 guests who will help him celebrate his 75th birthday.

Secretary of State Hughes, Governor Smith and Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, are among invited guests, who are expected to be there. President Harding sent his regrets, buried in bouquet of 75 American Beauty roses.

Chicago, Ill., July 14.—Improvements planned to the property and equipment of the Aurora third rail electric line which include the purchase of locomotives capable of making 63 miles an hour, remodeling of the Wells Street Terminal here and increasing schedules, have been announced by Thomas Conway, Jr., president. Operation of the most comfortable riding trains in the country is planned he said.

BEAUTY CONTEST AT AURORA FAIR

AURORA, Ill. (By A. P.)—Whether country girls or city girls are more beautiful will be decided by popular vote at the Central States Fair, to be held here August 17-25, which many thousands of people are expected to attend. Class winners will be chosen by a jury and confirmed by popular vote. High school girls, including the graduating classes of 1923, alone are eligible. The winner will receive $1,000.

Exhibits of farm and manufactured products from all sections of the United States and Canada are expected, and both governments will be exhibitors.

Early history of Chicago and the central states will be pictured in a pageant in which 3,500 people will take part. Other night attractions will include hippodrome acts and a fireworks spectacle in which 600 people will take part.

Airship Hangar Could House Large Office Building

At Scott Field, Ill., the Army Air Service has erected, at a cost of more than $2,000,000, a large airship hangar. The huge structure could contain a 10-story office building with a 50-foot tower on the roof. The hangar, which is built of steel, concrete, and glass, is 825 feet long and 225 feet high. At the end are large steel doors opened and closed by electric motors that travel on railroad rails.

Red Finger Light to Aid Night Auto Signaling

A small red light worn on the finger like a ring, has been made to aid night signaling by motorists. As the driver extends his arm and hand to signal a turn, or whatever it may be, the lamp is automatically lighted by the outstretching of the fingers. The cord connection can be plugged into the dash-board or under the driver's seat.

CHICAGO SHOWS GREAT ACTIVITY IN REAL ESTATE

Many Transfers and Much
Building is Being Done

CHICAGO—(By The A. P.)—While the year 1922 has been one of history and profit in the real estate business, the year 1923 is going forward to a realization of the many plans evolved during 1922, said Harry Goldstein, president of the Chicago Real Estate Board at the University of Michigan Alumni luncheon at the Hamilton Club here today.

"Money is plentiful, there is a big demand for property, mechanics and labor generally are earning good wages, and as long as the present condition prevails prosperity should continue," added Mr. Goldstein. "There are many factors that are conducive to the development of Chicago and its real estate, the principal of which are the new zoning laws, the many civic improvements and the development by public utilities in connection with their operation."

"The practical working out of the zoning system will tend to stabilize values of all kinds of property, which must necessarily insure the benefit of real estate by reason of the permanency of its use."

Importance of Work.
"Very few people appreciate the importance and details of the big improvements of Chicago. The new Ogden Avenue of improvement will be 3 1/2 miles long and 108 feet wide. The cost of this entire improvement is in the neighborhood of $15,000,000."

"The trial of the South Water Street case has been partially completed and the development in the neighborhood of $20,000,000 will tend to rehabilitate the north end of the downtown central district, and will mean to Chicago as much or more than the completion of the Michigan Avenue improvement."

"Closely associated and identified with the South Side development is the new Illinois Central Station project at Roosevelt Road and Michigan avenue, together with the electrification of lines, which will involve a cost of approximately $110,000,000. During the past ten years the real estate business from an ethical point of view has progressed, and the license law recently passed by the State of Illinois has done much, in my opinion, to elevate this business to the higher plane of a profession."

MAVER MEN ARE COWARDS
Woman Says They Allow Clerks and Restaurants to Sell Them Things They Don't Want.

Men are such cowards. They are afraid to get off a street car backward. They allow clerks to bully them, to fire them out until they purchase what they don't want to purchase. A man goes into a store and asks for a knitted tie. The gentleman behind the counter says "they" aren't wearing knitted ties any longer; will he look at something else? The man says "no," perhaps grumpily; then looks and finally buys.

But a woman doesn't do that. She says "no" and looks somewhere else, trying and trying and trying to get what she wants, even though her purse may finally compel her to buy the second choice. But she isn't a coward.

Men are such cowards. They enter a restaurant and order a steak—well done. When it comes it is exceedingly rare or burnt; they don't like it and growl, but usually they eat it. Or perhaps they send it back and insist on having another. That second one is worse than the first, and the man knows it, but he thinks he has triumphed, or pretends he has, and thanks the waiter—and gives him a good tip.

A woman doesn't do that. If she doesn't like what she gets she sends it back. And if she doesn't get good service she is very likely not to tip.

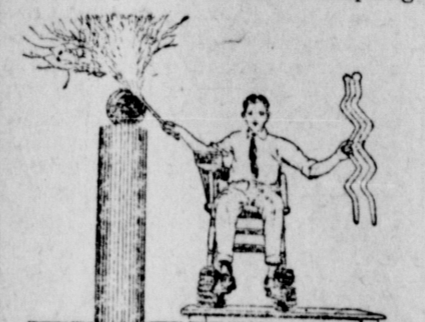

Men say that women are cruel. But women aren't cowards. It's the men who are that.—San Francisco Call and Post.

Modern Jove Juggles Million Volts

At an electrical show held at a western university not long ago, one of the students mystified the crowd with a display rivaling the mythical feats of Jove, who was believed by the ancients to be the wielder of the thunderbolt. Seated in a chair separated from a table by seven-ply insulators, the youth grasped a zigzag rod in one hand and in the other a wand with which he made contact with a ball from which the lightning effect was emitted. The impunity with which he handled the 1,000,000 volts is explained by the low amperage

Attachment on Spade Saves Shoes. The illustration shows a simple attachment for a spade, to save the shoes while digging. The attachment consists of a short length of 1/4 or 3/8-in. pipe, about 4 in. long, with a hacksaw slot cut through it lengthwise as shown, to permit it to be pushed onto the spade. The slot should, of course, be of such a width that the spade will be gripped firmly. The use of this attachment not only saves the shoes of the workman, but it is not so tiring on the foot.

World's Largest and Fastest Cable.
Completion of the laying of a new cable in the Atlantic Ocean, between New York and London, is expected by August 1, next, according to a recent announcement. It will be the largest ever laid in the Atlantic, or anywhere else in the world, and will have a capacity twice that of any other cable now in service between the United States and Europe. Engineers charged with the design of the new cable estimate that it will permit a sending speed of approximately 630 letters per minute in both directions at the same time, or a total of 1,260 letters per minute, making it the fastest cable in the world. Its conductor requires an average of about 1,100 pounds of copper per mile, as against an average of about 700 pounds of copper per mile for the heaviest now in service.

HORRIBLE DEATH
OVERTAKES NEGRO
EXPRESS DRIVER

Body Found Tied to Tree
Following Long
Search

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 14.—How Will Browley, negro express driver whose badly decomposed body was found tied to a tree Friday following his mysterious disappearance in April, experienced all the horrors of a living death as revealed Saturday following an examination of the body by Dr. T. N. Goodson. No marks or bruises were found on the body and a careful examination of the spine showed that the negro had not been strangled or his throat cut. In a report to R. Neil Campbell, justice of the peace, Dr. Goodson believed that the negro had been trussed to the tree and left to die by his assailants thru starvation and exposure.

Securely tied to the tree in such manner as to make his release impossible except thru outside help, the unfortunate victim, it is believed lived several days after he had been left to die a slow death by a revengeful gang of bootleggers, some of whose members he had reported to federal officers. When the body of the negro was found the head had dropped off and it was thought that the negro's throat had been cut.

COST OF PAVEMENTS
Springfield. (By A. P.)—Advertisements for bids for construction of pavement in Cook and Ogle counties has been announced by the state highway department. The Cook county pavement is 75 of a mile and is located on section 8 of state bond issue route 18. The Ogle county pavement, .77 of a mile, is on section 3, state bond issue route 26. Bids for the Cook county work will be received until 10 a. m., July 19 and for the Ogle county work until 2 p. m., July 24.

AUTO ROAD HOGS WILL BE PINCHED

SPRINGFIELD. (By A. P.)—Automobile drivers who try to "hog" the road are going to be interviewed by investigators from the secretary of state's office. Instructions were issued today by Secretary of State Louis L. Brandegee to his automobile investigators to make arrests wherever a driver fails to keep on his side of the road.

This action was prompted principally by complaints against Missourians. One correspondent, writing from Gillespie, to the secretary said: "Tourists from St. Louis thru ignorance or pure carelessness have the habit of straddling the black dividing line and refusing to give way. It has caused numerous accidents in this section and is occasioning much annoyance to auto drivers."

"Missourians are not the only offenders in this respect," Secretary Brandegee said, but the numerous complaints indicate the violation of this law on the part of Missourians is more common.

"I have noticed this myself," Secretary Brandegee said today. "Only a few days ago I drove from Mt. Vernon to Springfield by way of Collinsville and Edwardsville, and met scores of Missouri cars. Many of these drivers wanted the entire road or at least three-fourths of it. In two instances I was compelled to drive off of the pavement or be struck by their cars."

Secretary Brandegee has written to the St. Louis Automobile association warning its members that infractions of the law will be punished.

Attempts Suicide.
Mrs. Nitti, who did not know that a jury had fixed her penalty as death until more than a day after the trial was over when interpreters told her, apparently understood something of the sentence pronounced today however. As she was led from the court room, she shrieked: "They choked me, and attempted to hurl her down a corridor, and I was restrained by guards. This was the second suicide attempt the woman has made since her conviction she having attempted to end her life in her cell at the county jail immediately after learning the nature of the verdict."

Verdict is Proper.
Judge David in passing sentence declared there was no reason for interfering with the verdict.

"I find no reason to interfere with the verdict on the fact—none," he said. "The jury could not have rendered any other verdict on the evidence. No intelligent jury could have come to any other conclusion than that of guilt. The crime was so heinous that no jury could have any sympathy for those that committed it."

Crudelle appeared unmoved by the sentence. It was indicated that numerous organizations expected to interest themselves in securing a commutation of Mrs. Crudelle's sentence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alderson, and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Alderson and baby were city arrivals from Chapin yesterday.

THE CRUELLES ARE DENIED NEW TRIAL; SENTENCE STANDS

Judge Declares No Reason to Interfere with Verdict

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 14.—Mrs. Sabella Nitti Crudelle and her second husband Peter Crudelle were sentenced to be hanged on October 12 by Judge Joseph David today. They were convicted a few days ago of the murder of Frank Nitti, Mrs. Crudelle's first husband, by beating him to death with a hammer while he slept at the time Crudelle was a boarder at the Nitti home. Sentence was pronounced immediately after Judge David had denied a motion for a new trial. An effort was made to find an interpreter to translate the sentence into Italian for Mrs. Nitti who understands little English but none was found.

Entertained for Springfield Visitor

Mrs. Lula Overby of South 15th street, Springfield, is in the city for a few days visiting Mrs. Nellie Mounts on East College avenue. On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Harvey Cole entertained in honor of Mrs. Overby. Only a few of her friends were in for a few hours with their sewing including Mrs. Overby, Mrs. Nellie Mounts, Mrs. Harold, Mrs. Ed Moore, Miss Anna Wilson and Miss Susie Lynch.

Sincere, but Mistaken.

A neatly dressed man, with a black mustache, stood during the last months, just outside our station, and as passengers came on would stop them and inquire "Have you any old clothing you'd like to sell?"

My husband recently bought a new overcoat, and I decided to sell his old one. I remembered the man with the black mustache. I watched for him for some time without success. Finally, one evening, I saw him in his usual place.

Delighted and confident, I walked up to him, and said: "Are you the old clothes man?"

"Am I what?" he asked.

"Don't you buy old clothes?" I inquired again.

"I do not," said he, frankly amazed.

I mumbled apologies and departed hastily.—Detroit Free Press.

Science Explains Top Spinning.

Everyone who has ever whirled a string to which a stone is tied must have noticed the strong "pull" as the stone tried to get away. Every part of a spinning top is trying to fly away from the center of the top in exactly the same way. This pull is called "centrifugal force"—the tendency to fly from the center. As each particle of the top has an equal pull, none of them can upset the balance of the others. So long as this force is strong enough—that is, so long as the spin lasts—it counteracts the ordinary power of gravity, which has to confine itself to the peg of the top, the only point actually touching the earth. When the top slows down, the centrifugal force relaxes, gravity comes into its own again—and the top falls over.—Scientific American.

KILL RATS WITH BLOWGUNS

Weapons Peculiar to Natives of the Sulu Archipelago Can Be Used With Deadly Effect.

We were often visited by flocks of flying foxes from Tawi-Tawi, an island of the Sulu archipelago. These huge bats have a spread of wing from 3 to 4½ feet, and their fur is very short, but soft and delicate. Their chattering would often keep us awake at night while they feasted on the seeds of cottonwood trees in front of our house.

As usual, two house snakes took up their residence with us and assisted us in keeping our rats down. When they showed any disposition to wander elsewhere and came out from under the house, they were "switched" for their fickleness and driven back again.

Our own contribution toward rat extinction was by the use of the Moro blowgun. This is a polished piece of ebony with a bore about three-quarters of an inch in diameter and about four feet long. The projectile is a steel barb to which is attached a close tuft of soft feathers. This is inserted in the base of the barrel and a quick, strong puff will send it through the air for 50 to 60 yards. There is no way of sighting it, but long practice makes them very accurate. I have seen native children bring in small birds down from fairly large trees with them. When the barb is poisoned all that is necessary is to break the skin, and this perfectly silent little tuft of feathers coming from the jungle and found sticking between your shoulders means a horrible death.—Sydney A. Cloman in World's Work.

SENTENCES WERE LENGTHY

Probably the Most Extensive Ever Written is One Penned by the Duchess of Newcastle.

Certain Englishmen, writing to London newspapers, finding as Charles Reade once said, "no other waste pipe for their intellect," are disputing concerning the longest sentences, the longest poem.

We had supposed the longest sentence in English, longer even than any spun by William M. Evans in the Beecher trial, was the magnificent one of Hazlitt's in his essay on Coleridge included in "The Spirit of the Age" beginning: "Next he was engaged with Hartley's 'Theory of Mind,' but in the notes to John Payne's 'Collected Poems' is a sentence of 903 words. Every clause hangs on its proper peg, every adjective, every adverb has a reason for its existence.

There is a sentence in Margaret, duchess of Newcastle's "True Relation of my Birth, Breeding and Life" which has 400 lines. The sentences in this book average nearly two pages apiece; it contains 18 sentences and 30 pages.

Origin of "E Pluribus Unum."

Although it is not quite certain what suggested our national motto, "E pluribus unum," the origin of the phrase is not obscure. In writing of the intimate conversation of high-minded friends Cicero says (De Officiis, book I, cap. 17): "So is effected what Pythagoras desires in friendship, that many souls should be united in one (ut unus fiat ex pluribus)." The same thought is expressed in almost the same words in De Amicitia, cap. 25, "The value of friendship lies in this, ut unus quasi animus fiat ex pluribus." St. Augustine also says in his "Confessions" (book IV, cap. 8), that such friends are wont to exkinde each other's minds "et ex pluribus unum facere." The phrase is found in a different application in the "Moretum," a short poem attributed to Virgil describing the composition of a salad: "Color est e pluribus unus."

Button Statistics.

If all the buttons made in a year in the United States were distributed equally among the population each man, woman and child would receive 182, with a few thousand left over for a championship series of "Button, button, who's got the button?" In other words, there are 10,000,000,000 of these useful articles manufactured in this country yearly, and the industry has grown to such proportions that it equals in dollars invested and value of products the cutlery industry or the manufacture of oilcloth and linoleum.

America has a practical monopoly of the manufacture of vegetable ivory buttons, which are made in enormous quantities from the togua nut. This nut grows in great profusion in northern South America and Panama and provides the greater part of the buttons used in men's clothing.—Atlantic Coast Merchant.

Taking No Chances.

At the club they were discussing the Luxor excavations. The professor said they were of immense scientific interest. The dry goods man remarked that they had started many styles.

"Old things coming back into vogue," suggested the banker. "And this very tendency gives me pause. I guess I'll keep quiet about a discovery I made last week."

"What was that?"

"While digging a post hole in my back yard, I excavated a wire bustle."

Heavenly Decoration.

Elizabeth Anne went out in the suburbs with her father to see the new house they were building. One of the workmen was taking them about and telling them of the progress they were making when he remarked:

"Well, sir, it will be heaven when the house is plastered."

Elizabeth Anne looked up very much surprised and exclaimed:

"Why, daddy, is Heaven plastered?"

A Costly Remedy.
The Judge—Doctor, in your opinion, what is the most expensive medicine ever prescribed?
Dr. Wise—Heart balm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Roberts and daughter Grace motored to the city from Franklin yesterday.

Permits Show Building Greater Than In 1922

Building permits issued throughout the United States during the first half of 1923 were 36.5 per cent ahead of the same period in 1922. Permits issued in June this year, however, were only 2.3 per cent ahead of the same time in June, 1922, and were 10 per cent less than in May of this year.

These figures, which indicate a slowing up of building activities as compared with the unprecedented developments of the earlier month of the year, are based on official returns made from 225 principal cities and towns.

The Eastern States gained 24 per cent for the six months period, 4.4 per cent over June, 1922, and 5.2 per cent over May, 1923. The Central States gained 47 per cent for the half year period, but in June showed a loss of 8.7 per cent from June, 1922, and a loss of 27.4 per cent as compared with May this year. The Southern States gained 48.5 per cent during the first half of this year but in June lost 10.3 per cent compared with June, 1922, and declined 24.7 per cent from May this year. The Pacific Coast States gained 52.5 per cent for the first six months of this year. Their permits in June were 32.1 per cent ahead of June, 1922, and 1 per cent ahead of May of this year.

Remarkable Career Of River Steamer

HAVANA, Ill.—(By the A. P.) Twenty-seven years in the service of the state, the Steamer Illinois has reached another epoch in its remarkable career by a reversion to private ownership. Legislation in the 53rd General Assembly provided for its disposition, thus closing the chapter in the state's history wherein she boasted a "Navy Department."

Her captain, William V. McKinley said: "The State of Illinois has no work for her to do." Captain McKinley is just rounding out his thirtieth year with the "Illinois" which he knew first as the "Reindeer," a lumber boat which travelled the Mississippi in the early eighties down from West St. Louis, Wis., and which in 1880 established the record of making the biggest raft of lumber into the Saint Louis port that had ever been hauled down the river.

Two boats have been numbered in Illinois "Navy Department." The first one was the "Lotus," built by Captain McKinley's father, who was first cousin of President William McKinley. This boat passed from state service when the "Reindeer" was purchased, and was used at Louisville, Ky., as a pleasure boat.

From 1897 when the "Reindeer" passed from the command of Captain Al Hollingshead of the lumber service, until 1901 it retained its old name, but it was already an old boat and was in need of repairs, and a new hull and a new name were given it at the same time, in Quincy. It was christened "Illinois."

Illinois Log Book.
From that time until the present the log book of the "Illinois" indicates a varied occupation, chiefly as the pride of the old Illinois Fish Commission, and then as a part of the Illinois National Guard, and during the world war as a minor part of the United States Navy. Five guns, four one pounders, an one three pounder, graced her decks during the war, and Captain McKinley who for the time being became "Lieutenant McKinley of the United States Navy" made a record as a recruiter, and once held a prisoner aboard.

Every governor of Illinois with one exception, and every United States senator, and hundreds of congressmen and state legislators have helped in giving the boat its reputation, that of a repository where politics might be talked without inconvenience.

In one emergency while travelling between Alton and St. Louis, Captain McKinley volunteered his services and shaved Uncle Joe Cannon, Lawrence Y. Sherman, former U. S. Senator Lorimer, State Representative Snelkel and Cicero J. Lindley, now of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Flood Relief Work.

Flood relief has been one of the most distinctive services in which the "Illinois" has proved her worth. At Shawneetown in 1913, she not only succored the Illinois inhabitants of the flooded Wabash and Ohio, but extended aid to Kentucky refugees. And in the disastrous flood a year ago the "Illinois" patrolled the swollen river whose name she bears, carrying provisions and sandbags for strengthening levees. In this work she was under direction of the Red Cross, to whom she had been loaned by the Adjutant General, who had requisitioned the boat in this emergency from the Department of Agriculture.

Throughout her career the "Illinois" has held the reputation as the swiftest stern-wheeler in active river service. When President Roosevelt travelled from Keokuk to Memphis with a fleet of 14 boats, and when in 1908 President Taft travelled from St. Louis to New Orleans, the "Illinois" served as a dispatch boat.

When Speed Won.
In 1896 this quality of speed probably saved the "Illinois" from sudden destruction. She had gotten only five miles away from the St. Louis docks when a cyclone burst which totally destroyed twenty boats, and stranded the ship "Joelphin" under the Eades bridge from where, it is said, not one part of her rose again to be recognized.

Among other memorable incidents in the record of the "Illinois" Captain McKinley recalled the following:
Obtained the Illinois fish display for the World's Fair at St. Louis.

Survived the 1902 storm at Peoria, which wrecked nearly all river craft in that port.

Ran on a rock at Meredosia in the Illinois river mid stream. Saved from sinking by Captain McKinley, expert engineer, who went below surface and patched a twelve inch hole.

SCHOOL FUNDS DISTRIBUTION DELAYED YEAR

Distribution to be Based On Assessed Values

SPRINGFIELD.—(By the A. P.)—The new method of distributing the $8,000,000 state school fund, adopted by the 53rd general assembly, will not be put into effect until next year, according to announcement at the office of the state superintendent of public instruction.

The new method provides for distribution on the basis of the assessed valuation of property in school districts, the number of teachers and the amount of their training, the number of school days and on other matters.

The distribution for this year already has been made on the basis of the old system, which took into account only the number of children of school age in each district.

A Question Arises.

Some question has arisen over the time when the law takes effect. It is generally understood about the state house that a bill signed by the governor after July 1 does not become effective as a law until the following year. This is based on the constitutional provision which says all laws shall become effective on July 1 following their passage, unless otherwise stated. Some authorities hold that the word "passage" includes approval by the governor. Others maintain that "passage" refers only to the acts of the legislature. An opinion of the attorney general rendered some years ago, holds the latter view. The question has never been adjudicated by the courts.

Legal Opinion.

Jacob Thompson, legal adviser to the superintendent of public instruction, holds the view that laws signed after July 1, become effective a year hence and he believes this applies to the new school law.

In any event it will require many months, after schools open next September, to collect the data necessary for the administering the new distinctive system. Each school must make a report of the number of teachers and pupils, and county superintendents must prepare budgets which are to be transmitted to the state department before the distribution can be arranged.

The Last Straw.

Bunker—I was sorry to hear that you and your wife had separated on account of your golf.

Hazard—Oh, well, it had to be. I endured everything from that woman until she referred to my new masher as a "bat!"

Those Dear Girls.

Madge—I suppose my engagement to Jack was a complete surprise to you.

Marie—Your engagement to anybody would have been a complete surprise to me.—Boston Evening Transcript.

SAYS "MISCOUSIN" IS RIGHT

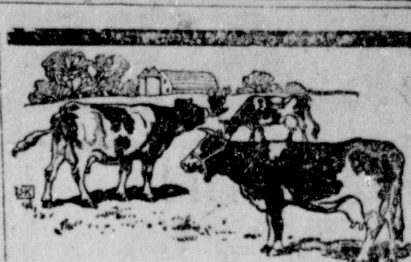

Student of Aboriginal Language Says Our Ancestors Erred in Naming Great Western State.

Following the discussion as to whether the state of Wisconsin was named after the Polish explorer, Tadeusz Wisniet, as authorities in Madison have been told, or whether the name was derived from the Indian appellation to the Wisconsin river, William H. Wheeler, student of Indian lore and aboriginal nomenclature, says the real name of the state should be Miscousin. Mr. Wheeler believes the word Miscousin is a corruption of an Indian term meaning red stone, which is characteristic of the banks of the Wisconsin river in the Dell region.

Mr. Wheeler lived for years among the Indians of the Lake Superior region, where his father, Rev. I. H. Wheeler, was a missionary.

"All over this land," asserts Mr. Wheeler, "the memory of aboriginal inhabitants was sought to be perpetuated by applying Indian names to lakes, rivers and streams, but with lamentable inaccuracy, so that it is extremely difficult in most cases to one posted in the language to identify the name."

Tibetan Wool Market.
At Patsee in the wilds of Tibet is held the wool market to which come annually the merchants from the rich plains of India. The Tibetans barter the fleeces of their flocks for the tea and cotton with which the pack mules of the traders are laden. The wool of the Tibetan sheep is in much demand, but as the animals cannot live below 10,000 feet, prospective purchasers are obliged to climb the rocky steeps into the very heart of the Himalayas. The market opens about the middle of July, when herdsmen and merchants with their respective camps in a high valley 13,000 feet above sea level. The sheep are shorn on the spot, and emerge looking incredibly slim and forlorn, from a mass of wool which lies on the ground like a buffalo robe. When the market is made, the fleeces are wound about with ropes and pressed into as small a compass as possible. They are then loaded upon the pack animals, and masters and mules turn their backs upon the inhospitable hills, well pleased to begin the descent toward their native plains.

A Hartford Farm Policy Covers Cattle

JONES TIED WITH SCOTCHMAN FOR HIGH GOLF HONORS

Will Play 18 Holes Today to Decide the Title

INWOOD, N. Y., July 14.—(By The Associated Press.)—Bobby Jones, wonderful young amateur of Atlanta, Ga., had the national open golf championship in his grasp today after turning in a score card of 23 for 72 holes, when along came the wee Scotchman, Robert Cruikshank, professional and tied him, necessitating a playoff of 18 holes tomorrow for the title. The young man from Atlanta long famous in the golfing world had shot four 18 hole rounds of beautiful golf for his 296, never was there a slip in his game until the last three holes of the last round when, with thousands of spectators around him he seemed to become a bit nervous. On the last three holes Jones was four over par. He took one over on the sixteenth, another extra stroke on the thirteenth and a six over par on the home hole.

Still his 296 seemed good enough to win, but Cruikshank, the Scot, was playing a great game.

He had to equal par on the round to beat Jones and could tie him with a 73, one over par.

When Jones was finishing, Cruikshank, the plaid of clanna-gun, of which he is a descendant, in his golf socks and his tie, a jaunty gray cap pulled on one side of his head and a curly, sandy lock of hair hanging in his eyes, was teeling off at the second hole of his last round.

Cruikshank was tired, for he had a tough morning round. In the morning he had started with a four par on the first, then found himself in the worst of holes.

Fate seemed to be against him. Out of one trap, he got into another. He spent six strokes getting away from the second, took six on the par five third and seven on the par five fifth.

"I was ready to cry a bit after that," said Cruikshank afterward.

The sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth he made in par for a 42. The tenth he left with a birdie three, but lost a stroke on the elbow thirteenth. Another birdie flew to his card and on the par five fourteenth and altho he was one over each on the sixteenth and seventeenth he finished with a birdie three, a 36 and a round of 78. Then Wee Bobby started his second round. The first took him five strokes and at the second he got news of Jones' faltering at the finish and of the card of 296.

He needed to make par 72 for his last round to win and 73 to tie. The gallery, numbering at this time some eight thousand persons moved from the eighteenth where they had seen Jones' finish to the second, where the Cruikshank had arrived with his partner, Walter Hagen.

Hagen was hopelessly out of the running. Cruikshank finished the first time in 36, one under par.

On the tenth he had a birdie three and the eleventh and twelfth he made in par.

He was one over par with a five on the crooked thirteenth when his second shot fell short and on the fifteenth a short hole his niblick shot went over the green and he took a four.

Trouble came. He sliced his drive to the sixteenth, drove his second shot short of the green, was on in three and took three putts for a six. A groan went up from the gallery. But he made his 17th with a par four. His drive from the 18th tee was long and straight. He lay about 170 yards from the green.

Selecting his iron, he addressed the ball and swung. The ball sailed low, straight, hit the green and rolled and rolled, stopping just about Cruikshank's length from the pin.

He measured it took a long look, then a long breath, squinted his eye on the cup. The ball took a slight hop then rolled to the lip of the cup, hesitated, as if to tense, then dropped in.

"Phew" was all Cruikshank had to say.

Bobby Jones stood on the edge of the green saw the shot, smiled and congratulated the player.

The first ten finished in the 72 holes championship round with scores follow:

Robert T. Jones, Atlanta, Ga., 296.
Robert Allen Cruikshank, West Field, N. J. 296.
Jack Hutchinson, Chicago, 302.
Jack Forrester, Hollywood, N. J., 303.

William Reekie, Upper Mont Clair, N. J., 304.
John Farrell, Mamaronck, N. J., 304.
Francis Gallett, Port Washington, N. Y., 304.

Leo Diegel, Washington, 306.
Al Watrous, Radford, Mich., 306.
William E. Mehlhorn, St. Louis, 306.

BROWNS TAKE THIRD PLACE IN LEAGUE

Double Header From Red Sox Turns Trick—Fullerton's Fielding Errors and Wildness Factor in Loss.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—St. Louis took undisputed possession of third place in the American League by winning a double header from Boston today. Urban Shocker won his fourteenth game of the season when the Browns defeated the Red Sox in the first contest 4 to 2. Fullerton's wildness and fielding errors gave St. Louis its runs.

In the second game opportune hitting gave the Browns victory 5 to 2. Cedric Duest, who substituted for Kenneth Williams who has an injured foot, cracked out a home run in the second inning.

BROKE EVEN IN DOUBLE HEADER

White Sox Take First 5 to 2, Athletics Second 6 to 4—Kamm's Batting Figures Prominently

CHICAGO, July 14.—Chicago and Philadelphia broke even in a double header today. Willie Kamm's great batting enabling the White Sox to take the first 5 to 2, while Bob Hasty's great pitching coupled with timely hitting by Jimmy Dykes gave the visitors the aftermath, 6 to 4.

Kamm's homer with two men on base in the third inning put Chicago out in front in the first game and they never were overtaken. In the second contest Hasty was hit hard in only two innings while Dykes drove in the tying run in the seventh and put the Athletics out in front with his second double in the ninth.

Hornsby and Heilmann Now Leading Hitters

CHICAGO, July 14. (By A. P.)—Rogers Hornsby, of the St. Louis Cardinals, champion batter of the National League today is topping the list of hitters, with an average of .351, just one point in front of the veteran Zach Wheat of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who has .350, according to averages released today and which include games of last Wednesday. It took the St. Louis star, some time to attain his old position at the head of the procession, but he moved upward rapidly when he started hitting against the Boston Braves twirler. In the last six games Hornsby made 17 hits, three of which were homers.

Jacques Fournier, the former Cardinal, now of Brooklyn, who topped the list a week ago has dropped to third place with an average of .378.

"Cy" Williams, of the Phillies, leads the home run hitters with 22. His total base record has been increased to 172.

Max Carey of the Pirates is showing the way to the rungetters with 67 tallies.

PHILLIES SLUG OUT VICTORY OVER CARDS

See-saw Game Played—Phillies Get Four in Eighth—Cy Williams Gets 23rd Homer

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The Phillies slugged their way to victory over St. Louis today when after two hours and a half of weird baseball they emerged on the long end of a 15 to 12 score.

The lead see-sawed thruout the game and it was not until the eighth inning, when the locals put over four runs that they were sure of victory.

Cy Williams hits his 23rd home run of the season and Holke, the Phillies first sacker, twice put the ball over the right field fence.

ART OF FORTUNE TELLING

Delving Into the Future by the Aid of Tea-Leaves Survival of Ancient Superstition.

To tell a fortune by tea-leaves, you turn your cup upside down in the saucer and whirl it around three times after drinking your tea. Turn the cup again and examine the leaf-fragments clinging to bottom and sides. Then you can read your future in what the leaves look like. Of course you can't count on it being true, but you can get some harmless fun out of it. There were many other old superstitions. In Egypt, a bowl or cup was filled with water and a boy gazed into it until he became hypnotized and "saw things." The magician interpreted what the boy thought he saw. The strolling magicians of North Africa perform the same trick today by means of a drop of ink in a boy's hand. When Joseph sent his messengers to find his silver cup in Benjamin's sack, he instructed them to say: "Is not this my lord's cup in which my lord drinketh and wherein he divineth?" Hence the mystic qualities of the cup. Ceromancy consisted of dropping melted wax into water and divining by the forms the wax assumed in cooling. It is a very old art, but tea was only introduced into Europe in the seventeenth century; yet the primitive mind still subsisting in man at once seized upon the tea grounds as a means of foretelling the future, as that same mind has seized upon melted wax thousands of years before.

LEGENDS OF THE UNICORN

Interesting Stories Concerning the Fabulous Monster That Once Were Implicitly Believed.

The unicorn is a fabulous beast, usually having the head and body of a horse, the hind legs of an antelope, the tail of a lion (sometimes a horse's tail), sometimes the beard of a goat, its chief feature being a long, sharp, twisted horn, set in the middle of its forehead. Great strength was attributed to the unicorn in medieval times, and early commentators tell how it had been known to worst the elephant in combat. Though as a rule savage and quarrelsome, even with females, the unicorn at mating-time was said to become very gentle to his mate, which is supposed to have given rise to the medieval idea that the unicorn was subdued to gentleness at the sight of a virgin, and would come and lay its head in her lap, which was the only means by which he could be caught, because of his swiftness and ferocity. The picture of a unicorn on a drinking cup symbolized an ancient belief of the efficiency of the unicorn's horn (sometimes used as a drinking cup) against poison.

Another medieval legend about the unicorn is that when it stopped to drink from a pool, its horn, dipping into the water, purified and rendered it sweet.

Ghosts Their Chief Fear.

Indian mail runners fear nothing but ghosts in the jungle, but not a year passes that does not take its heavy toll of runners in the execution of their duty. It might be a tiger, a swollen river, an avalanche in the Himalayas or a gang of robbers. The work goes on just the same; the mail goes through, whatever happens. So said Geoffrey Rothe Clarke, director general of posts and telegraphs in India, speaking before the Indian section of the British Royal Society of Arts. With the runners, Mr. Clarke stated, the mail was a fetish they would protect at all costs. For wild beasts, floods and dangers of all kinds they would not turn aside. But they would go miles out of their way, even when carrying the precious mails, to avoid an evil spirit whom they suspected of lodging in a tree. Of ghosts they are far more afraid than of the fiercest wild beasts.

Deadly Tropical Spiders.

Several species of poisonous spiders in tropical countries are so large and formidable that the natives give them a wide berth. Probably the most feared of these is the great crab spider, which is as large as a human hand, and does not spin a web of any kind. The strength of its legs and talons is phenomenal, enabling it to cling to smooth or rough surfaces with equal tenacity. The bite is very painful, and, although not necessarily fatal, if neglected for any length of time blood poisoning is almost sure to set in.

Presence of Cream a Surprise.

A family found a good deal of cream on a bottle of milk which had been standing overnight. When the milkman called in the morning the maid held it up to the light and said: "Look here, I have never seen anything like this before on your milk."

The man looked at it for a moment, scratched his head, and replied: "Well, I don't know what's the matter, but you can throw it out and I'll give you a fresh bottle in its place."

Real Oyster Stuffing.

The newly-married couple were having turkey for the first time. "I don't know how it is," he remarked, "but this bird's got bones all over it. Just listen to the knife on them, my dear!"

"Oh, how silly of you, darling! Those aren't bones. Those are the shells."

"Yes, shells. Don't you remember you said you liked turkey with oyster stuffing?"

INDEES WILL MEET HARTSBURG TODAY

The game at South Side Park today between the Indies and Hartsburg will be called at 2:30 o'clock in order that the game will be finished a little earlier thus enabling some of the visiting players to make better train connections.

O'Reilly, the short stop secured from Springfield, has rejoined the Winchester team which has reorganized as it is much handier for him to play at Winchester which is nearer his home. In the meantime the Springfield South Side Merchants has disbanded and Smith has secured short stop Newquest from Springfield who has had an unusual good year so far at bat and in the field.

Krominga, one of the Hartsburg pitchers was the star hurler for Wesleyan university and had 'em all standing on their heads while with that school, but our man, Ira Fanning is also an ex-college tosser, so it will be a case of who's who. Hartsburg will present the following lineup: D. Minch, 3b; R. Minch, lf; G. Payne, 2b; L. Dunham, 1b; E. Ryan, rf; D. Payne, c; Rode-maker, ss; Quisenberry, cf; Sweetney, p; Krominga, p.

The Indies will play: Massinkoff, cf; Wheeler, 1b; Clark, c; Christopher, lf; DeFrates, 3b; Newquest, ss; Kohloff, 2b; Henderson, rf; Fanning, p.

BOSTON SPLITS EVEN WITH CINCI REDS

BOSTON, July 14. — Boston split even with Cincinnati today. Rixey relieved Donohue in the first game and he is credited with being the winning pitcher in a 12 inning contest 4 to 2, against Jess Barnes. Passes to Barnes and Roush and singles by Duncan and Lonsaca in the twelfth scored two runs for the visitors. The second game was a light hitting affair with Genewich having the batter of Keck and then Couch, 3 to 1.

GLOVE NOT MODERN DEVICE

Its Use Can Be Traced With Unerring Accuracy Back to the Most Remote Times.

The origin of the glove dates back to remote antiquity. There is reason to believe that the ancient Persians wore them, since it is mentioned in the "Cyropædia" of Xenophon that on one occasion Cyrus went without his gloves. It is also known that some kind of protective coverings for the hands were used by the Romans in certain kinds of manual labor and in battle. The English scholar, Dawkins, discovered on a bone dating from prehistoric days a design which he claimed to be a picture of a glove. On the monuments of the Pharaohs in Egypt, there are represented among the tributes paid by subject peoples gloves of the shape of the long suede worn by modern women.

Homer speaks of the glove worn by the ancient Greeks in garden toil, and, though a crude mitten may be meant, it is also thought that the ancients knew the fingered glove. Gloves of the ancients corresponded in color with their foot coverings. The sandals and boot-like stockings were generally white or pink. Mittens are among the dress accessories found with mummies of priestesses dating from the twenty-first dynasty of Egypt. They were of the same material as the upper garment.

HEREDITY THAT IS PUZZLE

Facts Only Are Known, and Cause of Peculiarity Has Not Been Satisfactorily Explained.

One of the most striking instances of the Mendelian principle of heredity is that which is exhibited by the breeding properties of the Andalusian fowl, an exchange states. The blue Andalusian fowl owes its popularity with the public, and its interest to the student of heredity, to its color. This is a slate blue-gray. If two birds of this strain are mated, it is found that they do not breed true. Besides the blue birds which hatch out, there will also be a certain number of blacks, and of whites, with occasional black points. If the blues thus produced are mated the odd-colored ones will again appear among their offspring, and no amount of breeding from the blues alone will rid them of the black and white blood which will crop out at every generation, although blue birds are mated every time.

The principles involved are called the Mendelian principles, after their discoverer, Gregor Johann Mendel, abbot of a monastery at Brunn, Austria, after eight years of patient experimenting in his cloister garden with plants, chiefly edible peas.

Birds' Nests Nourishing Food.

On Tawi-Tawi island of the Sulu archipelago live colonies of the little swallow-like swifts that make the edible birds' nests, so beloved of the Chinese. These birds have some sort of glands in their jaws that secrete a thick glue which they stick up against the wall as a swallow does mud, and the nest when completed looks like white glass, but is very light.

They are sold to the traders for their weight in Mexican silver, and it takes 17 nests to balance a dollar. They are supposed to be extremely nourishing and the broth is in demand for invalids.

After the "first chop" nests are collected the birds begin at once the construction of the second chop, but these are worth only about one-half the first chop. When these are knocked down the birds resort to moss with only enough glue to hold it together. These are allowed to remain, and in them they raise their broods.

Making Flowers Smell Stronger.

The perfume of flowers is greatly increased by a process invented by Professor Daniel of Rennes, France. He explained it to the Academy of Science in Paris. By taking two plants of the same species and grafting one on the other—notably a wormwood on a chrysanthemum—he found not only the grafted wormwood developed remarkably, but its flowers gave forth a perfume much more powerful than that of the original plant. Moreover, the chrysanthemum had given to the wormwood flower something of its own perfume. M. Daniel collected the seeds of the grafted wormwood, and the following year obtained from them very fine plants. They had this notable feature—while the flowers of some of the plants emitted a perfume similar to those of the original graft, others were absolutely without odor.

The Marshmallow.

An erect perennial herb closely related to the hollyhock and commonly called marshmallow, is found growing in salt marshes along the coast of Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York. It is known to botanists as Althea officinalis, but it is not recognized by physicians as a drug plant. It attains a height of two to four feet, and has attractive pink flowers about an inch across. The roots are thick, mucilaginous and used in confectionery, and to some extent, in medicine.

Views of a Pessimist.

"Invite a hen to lunch and she lays you an egg. A hen's friendship pays dividends."

"What are you driving at?" "Invite one of these society hens to lunch and she goes away and says you are putting on style you can't afford."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Gas, by All Means.

An elderly woman paid her first visit to the dentist to have several teeth extracted.

"Will you have gas, madam?" she was asked.

"Certainly," she replied. "I don't want you fumbling in the dark."

FAIR CATALOGS NOW IN MAILS

Catalogs of Morgan County's big fair came from the printers on Friday night and the first consignment of them is now in the mails and on its way to many a Morgan county farm and city home. The book this year includes many departments and much additional information than was included in that of last year.

A new system of mailing is being used this year. The local post office granted a permit for stamping machine and much labor is being saved as stamps do not have to be licked, wrestled with, and pasted on.

Race horse men and exhibitors all over the country will receive this catalog and the fame of Morgan's great fair will spread far and wide.

Scores of horses are now on the grounds, each looking a perfect replica of the famous "Spark Plug" of Barney Google fame, with its hood and blanket. The horses that are here now for the big racing events of July 19 and 20, now number eighty; these races however must not be confused with the fair races, which, if every thing turns out as expected, will prove an even greater sight.

PRISONERS AND BOOZE ARE TAKEN IN RAIDS

State's Attorney Robinson Invokes Federal Aid to Clean Up Big Distillery in Cass County—Three Men Arrested and Truck Load of Equipment and Liquor Seized

One of the most extensive and important booze raids thus far made in this section was conducted yesterday morning by sheriff's forces of Morgan county under the direction of W. L. Moody of Springfield, deputy U. S. marshal and State's Attorney Carl E. Robinson. A complete still, three barrels of mash, and large quantities of other material were taken from the George Rex-roat farm four miles southwest of Virginia in Cass county.

Charles Newberry was arrested as proprietor of the still, and was taken to Springfield yesterday evening by Marshal Moody. The raid was the sequel to the arrest Friday evening of Rube Newberry, who was caught three miles north of this city while attempting to deliver a consignment of mule to a Morgan county customer. Ten gallons of white mule were found early Saturday morning in a cornfield near the Sherman schoolhouse, where Newberry had hidden it before his capture by deputy sheriffs.

State's Attorney Robinson recently went to Springfield and swore out a federal warrant for the search of the Newberry premises, where it was known on good authority that booze was being made in large quantities. Following the arrest of Rube Newberry, the federal authorities at Springfield were notified and W. L. Moody came to the city yesterday morning, and together with deputies Burch, Burley Jones and Strawn, and Special Officer E. A. Daniels, proceeded to the Rexroat farm. When the still and the other material was found under the house and about the premises, the officers phoned to Jacksonville for a truck. The following inventory will show the extent of the haul made by the officers:

Three barrels of mash, two sacks of corn sugar, four sacks of bottle corks, a syphon hose, four sacks of charcoal, 25 gallon jugs of liquor, 175 empty quart bottles, and other equipment for operating a full fledged booze factory.

Rube Newberry and Marvin Merrill are now in the Morgan county jail, held on charges of transporting booze in this county. Merrill escaped from the officers Friday night, but was arrested as he was attempting to leave the Newberry place during the raid yesterday morning. He told State's Attorney Robinson that he intended to plead guilty. Mr. Robinson intends to file information Monday against Merrill and Newberry.

Charles Newberry, who was arrested by Deputy Marshal Moody was taken to Springfield, along with the stuff confiscated in the raid. He is also facing a federal indictment on charges of transporting liquor in Pleasant Plains, where he was arrested by federal authorities several months ago.

State's Attorney Robinson said yesterday that he is determined to stop the transportation of liquor from Cass county into Morgan. Some have made their boasts to him that Newberry was operating a still and selling his wares across the line in Morgan county. The state's attorney has evidence that the Newberry outfit delivered a load of booze in Franklin recently. The only possible way to break up the Cass county stronghold seemed to be by federal action. Mr. Robinson took the necessary steps by securing a federal warrant. He stated yesterday that there are others across the line who will get the same dose, unless the flow of booze into Morgan county is stopped.

It appears that Cass county authorities are lax in enforcing the dry law and officials in this county have experienced considerable trouble from inter-county liquor transportation. Authorities here are determined to stop this practice, even to the extent of warring on the source of supply.

TWO WILLS PLACED ON RECORD SATURDAY

Mrs. Israel of Murrayville Left Property to Relatives—All of F. W. Scholfield Estate Goes to Wife.

The will of Mrs. Ann Augusta G. Israel was filed for probate yesterday in the office of County Clerk G. L. Riggs. The testatrix after providing for the payment of debts set aside $300 to be placed in the Murrayville State bank. From the interest thereon $5 is to be paid yearly to the trustees of Murrayville M. E. church, $5 to the trustees of White Hall cemetery and $2 to be expended for flowers to be placed on the grave of Mrs. Israel.

Another $100 is placed in the bank which with the interest thereon is to be paid to Cary F. Strang on his twenty-first birthday. All the remainder of the estate real and personal, is to be divided as follows: Mary Wright one-half; Mildred Wright one-fourth; Margaret Strang Wyatt, one-fourth. J. L. Wyatt is named executor of the will without bond and the witnesses to the signature of the will made February 13, 1923, are Harry Cade and L. C. Collins.

Mr. Scholfield's Will. The will of Frederick W. Scholfield was also made a matter of record Saturday. Mr. Scholfield in his will, made September 24, 1919, bequeathed all of his property to his wife, Mrs. Sarah Scholfield. The testator named C. F. Scholfield as executrix of the will and he is to serve without bond.

PRESENTS WORK OF MISS ANNE JACKSON

Compositions of Local Woman Heard at Studio Musicales Given by Mrs. Gary Westenberg in Springfield

The State Register of recent date told of a studio musicale at the home of Mrs. Gary Westenberg in Springfield. The musicale setting for each number on the program being the work of Miss Anne Wakely Jackson of this city. Several paragraphs from the article referred to are given below:

The guests at today's musicale were chiefly out of town music lovers who had expressed a desire to hear some of the compositions of this gifted composer whose work is already attracting considerable attention among discriminating persons.

Miss Jackson's work is remarkable in its clear interpretation of the poem in every case. In her opinion the words are the frame work around which her musical structure is built. The composition given in today's program varied from the light and airy to the deeply religious and in each, the composer has sensed the thought of the writer and the inherent rhythm of the words in the most extraordinary way and then succeeded in transmitting that beauty and rhythm to the setting, making it a perfect interpretation of the words.

Among the outstanding numbers were two directly opposite in quality. One was "Caprice," a haunting Indian melody arranged for the poem of that name by Sarojini Naidu. The second was "Hold, Thou My Hand," the words of which she took from a book by William Canton entitled, "The Invisible Playmate." The music for the latter selection possessed a remarkably beautiful and impressive tonal quality akin to the deep tones of cathedral bells and solemn music of the old missions.

RALPH BOWEN GETS GOVERNMENT LAND

Word has been received in this city that in a recent land drawing in which five others participated, Ralph Bowen formerly of Jacksonville was awarded 40 acres of very valuable land within thirty miles of Portland Oregon.

The tract has a great amount of fine timber on it and is located only two miles from a sawmill and one mile from a river. Although Mr. Bowen has been following his trade as carpenter and contractor, it will be necessary for him to live on the tract for some time to prove up on his claim.

REPORTS PAST DUE IN MANY ESTATES

Notices Sent to Executors and Administrators Pointing Out Legal Requirements.

As there are more than 200 estates in the probated court in which reports are past due Judge H. P. Samuel recently entered an order requiring that reports in such estates be filed by October 1. The order requiring the county clerk to send notice to executors or others who are delinquent in the matter of filing reports sets forth that notices are to be sent to all executors, administrators de bonis non, administrators with will annexed or ex officio administrators in all estates which have been pending for more than a year from the date of the issuance of letters.

The notices set forth that the estates are to be closed on or before October 1, and that if the order is not complied with that citation will be issued against the administrators et al, made returnable at the November term of the circuit court.

In accordance with the order F. W. Brockhouse as the deputy for County Clerk Riggs is sending notices to executors and others mentioned indicating that estates have not been closed in accordance with the law.

The notice sent says in part: "You will please take notice that the court has directed that all administrators or executors must close their respective estates which have been pending in this court for more than twelve months and all costs must be paid as provided by statute or show cause why the same should not be done. You are therefore notified that unless the above order is complied with that a citation or attachment for contempt will issue."

On the reverse side of the notices sent are extracts from the law on the subject. These questions are as follows: "114. Annual and Final Settlements—Notice. All executors and administrators shall exhibit accounts of their administration for settlement, to the County Court from which the letters testamentary or of administration were obtained, at the first term thereof, after the expiration of one year after the date of their letters, and in like manner every twelve months thereafter, or sooner, if required by the Court, until the duties of their administration are fully completed: Provided, that no final settlement shall be made and approved by the court, unless the heirs at law of the decedent and the legatees under the will, and the creditors, if any, of the decedent, whose bequests or allowed claims have not been satisfied, have been notified thereof, in such manner as the Court may direct."

"116. Settlements Enforced—Contempts—Interest on Assets. The County Courts of this state shall enforce the settlements of estates within the time prescribed by law, and upon the failure of an executor or administrator to make settlement at the next term of the Court after the expiration of said time, the Court shall order a citation to issue to the sheriff of the county where the executor or administrator resides, or may be found, requiring said executor or administrator to appear at the next term of the court and make settlement of the estate, or show cause why the same is not done; and if an executor or administrator fails to appear at the time required by such citation the court shall order an attachment requiring the sheriff of the county where the executor or administrator resides, or may be found, to bring the body of said executor or administrator before the court; and upon a failure of an administrator or executor to make settlement under the order of the Court after having been so attached, he may be dealt with as for contempt and shall be forthwith removed by the Court and some disinterested person appointed in his stead; the costs of such citation or attachment to be paid by the delinquent executor or administrator, and the Court shall enter a judgment therefor, and a fee bill may issue thereon.

OPEN AIR SERVICES

At the Union services at Grace church this evening at 7:30 o'clock the Reverend W. E. Spooner of Northminster church will deliver the sermon. Prior to the main service the Merritt band thirty strong will deliver a sacred concert. The congregational singing will be under the leadership of Homer Wood, who will also render a solo.

These open air services are becoming more popular every week and it is predicted that close to one thousand people will be present this evening.

WILL TAKE BOAT TRIP ON GREAT LAKES

Mrs. Margaret Lonergan, Misses Teresa Lonergan, Rosa Walsh and Isabel Mallen of this city and Miss Agnes Mallen of Springfield expect to leave tomorrow night for a vacation trip covering two weeks. THERE ARE NO JOBS ON STATE HIGHWAY PATROL

Circulation of a story, following the passage of Senate Bill 311, fixing as a maximum number 100 state road maintenance police, to the effect that the action opened up that number of jobs, has caused highway officers at Springfield to be deluged with applications. They have been arriving on every mail and the aggregate already has mounted to several hundred.

An official in the roads department, when interviewed, said: "There is an impression that Senate Bill 311 created 100 new State Road Maintenance Police to patrol the state, bond issue system of roads."

"This is a misunderstanding, as a law was enacted by the 52nd General Assembly, authorizing the Department of Public Works and Buildings to appoint State Road Maintenance Police to patrol the state bond issue system of roads as completed."

"The new law enacted by the 53rd general assembly limits the total number of State Road Maintenance Police to 100, and the present force is included in this number. The Department has been appointing State Road Maintenance Police for the last two years as they were needed, and they now have a sufficient force to thoroughly patrol that portion of the state bond issue roads now completed. The law contemplates that the present force can only be increased as additional roads are constructed. In view of this situation there are no vacancies at present."

HOW THE PEOPLES MONEY IS HANDLED BY APPROPRIATION

From Few Thousands in the Early Days of Illinois Amount Necessary Extends Into Hundreds of Millions — Appropriating and Accounting is an Intricate Task

SPRINGFIELD, July 14.—(By The A. P.)—Appropriating the people's money by the millions is an intricate task to the solution of which many hands and brains are brought in the state government.

From a few thousands of dollars in the beginning, the appropriations of the state of Illinois have grown approximately $230,000,000 appropriated by the general assembly recently closed. This latter sum includes, of course, $55,000,000 in bonds for a soldier bonus and bonds of about $70,000,000 for roads.

As the amount of the appropriations has risen the machinery for effecting this tremendous and important legislation has developed. The introduction of the budget system under the code revision of Lowden's administration brought an important change. Further changes were effected by the rules of the recent legislature.

The most important financial body of the state government, from the standpoint of decisive power, is the appropriations committee of the house of which Representative Edward J. Sneykal of Chicago is chairman.

Many Sorts of Bills
There are many kinds of appropriation bills. Most of them are introduced by the individual members; but the most important are drafted and introduced by the appropriation committees. Among this latter class are the bills appropriating for the expenses of the many state departments. Formerly one bill—the "omnibus"—contained all these items but the 53rd General Assembly adopted a rule that appropriations for the offices of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, treasurer, auditor of public accounts, superintendent of public instruction, and secretary of state should be in separate bills.

This is all-important omnibus bill and other bills for the expenses of state departments are made in the following way:
A budget made up by the director of finance not later than the 15th of September in the year preceding the convening of the general assembly. This budget is based on estimates submitted by the state departments. The Director of Finance then submits his estimate of revenues and appropriations to the governor who not later than four weeks after the organization of the general assembly submits to that body a state budget recommending the amounts to be appropriated for the expenses of all the state departments.

Various Committees
Each house of the General Assembly has its committee on appropriations. It has been customary for the committee on appropriations of the house of representatives to draft and introduce the appropriation bills for the maintenance of the state departments including the "omnibus" bills. So this committee, working with the budget as a basis, drafts these bills after holding hearings and receiving reports of sub-committees.

These sub-committees of the committee on appropriations are very important part of the work. They are assigned the task of visiting the different state institutions and investigating their requirements at first hand so that the committee may appropriate for them intelligently. One such committee calls the department and division heads in the state house before it and inquires into the needs of their offices and the way previous appropriations have been administered. With this great mass of data which takes

APPLICATION OF COMPENSATION ACT QUESTIONED

Whether Applicable to Soldiers Receiving Training

SPRINGFIELD.—(By The A. P.)—The question of whether disabled soldiers receiving training at the cost of the government, is entitled to compensation under the Illinois Workmen's Compensation act if he is injured in a plant where he is receiving the training, has been submitted to Attorney General Brundage for an opinion. It is unique in American jurisprudence, Mr. Brundage said.

The question was transmitted to Mr. Brundage by Raymond A. Lasance, national adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Cincinnati, O.

The point has never before been raised in Illinois nor any of the other states of the union, according to Mr. Brundage, who declined to express a definite opinion in the absence of court rulings.

In the case raised the trainee was receiving pay from the government without cost to the employer for whom the man worked. In his opinion the attorney general said:

"The question is whether the employer and the trainee sustain the relation to each other of employer and employee within the meaning of the compensation act. 'The situation is unique and I do not find and decided cases in this or other states on the identical question. There are some cases of somewhat similar nature which may throw some light on the question but after careful consideration I have come to the conclusion that I cannot express a final opinion one way or the other at this time and upon the information before me. Indeed, the absence of any cases deciding the identical question I doubt if it would be proper for me to express an opinion in any event in view of the fact that the question is one for determination by the Industrial Commission.'

TELLS OF LOW COST
John Sheppard of Sandusky street has received a letter from his daughter, Miss Edna who is now studying music in Berlin, Germany. She tells of the extremely low prices prevalent in that country. For $9.00 a month she gets an apartment of two rooms and her breakfast. In her apartment is a grand piano. Her meals cost her an average of 18 cents apiece.

Miss Sheppard is preparing herself to be a director of Grand Opera and will probably study in several cities in Germany and Austria. She said that it was rather hard for her to understand the language as so many different dialects were spoken on the streets of Berlin that it amazes a foreigner.

Supreme Court Decisions

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., July 13, 1923.—"So many people will be bearish while the second half of the area of business readjustment is being completed, that it is well to stop once in a while and consider some of the optimistic features of the situation. There is much good news constantly coming out. The great improvement in the condition of the railroads; the corrective attitude on the part of labor; and the late developments in the foreign situation are all optimistic factors. One optimistic feature that we do not hear much about, however, is the present attitude of the United States Supreme Court."

It is difficult for the statistician to measure court decisions, says Roger W. Babson, "and if he did it too often, contempt of court proceedings might follow. Nevertheless, these court decisions are a great factor in business, and could probably be reduced to a statistical analysis. I have special reference to three recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court."

"The decision in connection with the Southwestern Telephone company was exceedingly cheering to investors. This decision clearly ruled that neither legislatures nor commissions can make rates that are confiscatory in any way. The court indicated that the cost of production must be considered, as well as original cost, and that investors must be treated fairly so as to encourage them rather than discourage them. This decision has been welcomed by all interests, especially the public utility group. It should make more safe telephone securities, electric light and power securities, and street railway securities. This does not mean that the Supreme Court upholds dishonesty or stock watering, but it does mean that it will protect capital when politicians, for selfish motives, attempt to jeopardize it. Furthermore, this decision will encourage corporations to appeal to the courts more and bother with Congress and legislatures less during the next few years than they have heretofore."

"The second decision which interests business men was when the United States Supreme Court held that the Kansas Industrial Court can fix or regulate wages only in a great emergency. Briefly, this decision was that in the case of a railroad or coal strike, where the public is threatened with starvation or disaster, an Industrial Court can come in and fix wages, but only in such instances. The special case was one involving the Charles Wolf Packing company. The United States Supreme Court held that it was not necessary for this packing company to do business. There were other companies from which goods could be purchased, and as a last resort people could temporarily go without their products for a while if necessary. As most of the states of the country were eagerly awaiting this decision, the ambitions of many political leaders will naturally be greatly curbed thereby. There will be fewer attempts during the next few years to interfere with business by legislation than there would have been if the United States Supreme Court had upheld the Kansas Industrial Court."

"The third epoch-making decision of the United States Supreme Court was to the effect that the Federal Trade Commission can interfere in the right of private business or in the matter of fixing prices. For some time, certain great national advertisers have been in conflict with the Federal Trade Commission concerning prices on national advertised goods. Some chain store retailers have been selling certain nationally advertised goods at or below cost in order to get people into the store and then sell them something else. The national advertisers have claimed that this is not only unfair to the manufacturers but also to the public, and have insisted that their prices be upheld by all retailers. The Federal Trade Commission has taken the part of the chain stores and those who want to cut prices. The Supreme Court has upheld the national advertisers. Some may think that this decision is against public interest, but I seriously doubt it. Public interests demands good business which will keep people employed and goods moving. Prices never long remain too high because high prices always either encourage competition or else check buying. Statistics show that business has been harmed more by price cutting than by price fixing. If prices are too high they corrupt themselves. Price cutting, however, kills the goose that lays the golden egg."

"Business continues fair," concluded Mr. Babson. "The Babson chart stands one per cent above normal. The intermediate area of prosperity which threatened to develop into a period of inflation has been checked. We have now started in again to complete the period of readjustment. This is not bad news but really good news looking at the long point of view. Before a man starts out expanding he should first pay up his bills. The same rule applies to a nation. This is the conclusion which the United States has at last reached. For one I am glad of it."

PROPERTY DAMAGE
BY RATS IS GREAT
Is Equal to the Gross Earnings of 200,000 Men—Best Method of Rat Ridgance
URBANA.—(By The A. P.)—Destruction by rats in the United States is equal yearly to the gross earnings of 200,000 men, according to F. P. Hanson of the Farm Mechanics department of the University of Illinois.

"You can't sell rats, so why feed them?" Mr. Hanson asks in a statement setting forth the means of their eradication. "The best and most permanent means of rat ridgance is by rat-proofing buildings. Poison, traps, cats and dogs will have more or less relief, but as long as the feeding and housing conditions remain ideal, rats are almost certain to come in from other property. Rat proof construction should be kept in mind when new buildings are planned, and old buildings can be made rat proof at little expense."

"As far as destroying existing rats is concerned, poisoning is perhaps the best means. Powdered barium carbonate is well adapted for such work if handled properly. If poison can't be used traps may prove effective, but they require more skill. Dogs make better ratcatchers than cats. Small terriers head the list as enemies of rats, the occasionally one finds a cat that is superior."

"The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that rats destroy $200,000,000 worth of property annually. If you assume that the average rat will destroy $2.00 worth of produce annually, you can readily see why his weight is worth in most cases more than $1.00 a pound."

PLEAD PAUPER ACT TO ESCAPE LIQUOR VIOLATION PENALTY

Frequency of Requests Under This Act Starts Investigation

SPRINGFIELD.—(By The A. P.)—A person convicted of violation of the prohibition law may take advantage of the pauper act the same as in the case of any other criminal offense, according to an opinion of Attorney General Brundage.

The frequency of requests for discharge under pauper act in prohibition convictions led State's Attorney Paul J. Graham of Alton to seek a ruling on the point from the attorney general.

The pauper act provides that when a person confined in jail for any fine or costs of prosecution for any criminal offense has no estate wherewith to pay the fine or costs he may be discharged, providing this does not affect the sentence he may be serving as punishment.

"Said section provides," reads the attorney general's opinion, "that it shall apply to any person confined in jail, for any fine or costs of prosecution for any criminal offense. I think it clear that said statute applies to persons who have been convicted for violation of the Illinois prohibition act."

and Hallowed Memories Surrounding Illinois History Thru a Chain of State Parks—Silent Testimony to Famous Characters

SPRINGFIELD, July 14.—(By The A. P.)—The romance of heroic deeds and hallowed memories clings about Illinois' state parks. In the beauty of scenery, in the silent testimony of ancient battlefields and in the communion they hold with great men and great moments of the past they tell the story of the winning of the Illinois country.

It is a story rich in the lore of a nation's building and moving with the spirit of great adventure. From the southern tip to the northern boundary the state is marked with these sacred spots where conquest and sacrifice, in the field and in the forum, forged a commonwealth out of a wilderness.

Everyone of these historic spots eventually is to be taken over by the state and improved or reclaimed that the memory of the deeds they recall may be preserved to posterity. Many of these places already have been taken over and belong to the whole people. The latest acquisitions in park properties are Old Salem, the early home of Abraham Lincoln, located on the Sangamon river near Petersburg; the Vandallia court house, first capitol after the admission of Illinois to the Union; the Metamora court house in Woodford county, one of the few remaining buildings in which Lincoln practiced law; Fort Creve Coeur, near Peoria, and a site in Dixon on which was located the block house in which Abraham Lincoln was quartered as a soldier during the Black Hawk war.

FLORENCE OIL COOK STOVES

MORE HEAT
LESS CARE

For Successful Canning

You can put up all your fruits and vegetables in jig time if you own a Florence Oil Cook Stove.

For the Florence works accurately and well. It brings comfort and ease all the time you are in the kitchen.

Touch a lighted match to the asbestos kindler. Quickly you have the right heat for cold-pack canning, sterilizing jars, or for gentle cooking—all important in successful canning.

For any cooking, this well-constructed, easily-operated stove is equally dependable.

The Florence is easy to clean; and needs but ordinary care. Since it burns kerosene, it is economical.

Drop in our store the next time you are in the neighborhood. We shall be pleased to show you exactly how the Florence works.

UNSURPASSED PARK SYSTEM IS BEING PLANNED BY STATE

(Continued From Page 9.) to be surpassed by no other state and the program mapped out under the direction of the Department of Public Welfare allows for the continued development. The last legislature added substantially to the system by appropriating more than $250,000 for park purposes, not including maintenance expenses. This sum includes $100,000 for the purchase of additional park sites, $55,000 for paying the road from Petersburg to Old Salem park and approximately $65,000 for repairs and improvements.

The history of many of these historical spots is voluminous. Briefly they may be identified as follows:

Historical Spots

Fort Charles—Fort de Chartres, named after the Duke de Chartres, son of the regent of France, was built to give protection to the Company of the West or Mississippi company. In 1765 it was taken from the French by the British. Early Illinois history centers about the fort, which was the hub of French activity until the British wrested it from them.

Fort Massac—Fort Massac offered the opening wedge by which George Rogers Clark entered and conquered from the British the extensive Northwest territory. Coming down the Ohio, Clark landed at Fort Massac and captured the garrison, and from there proceeded overland to Kaskaskia and Vincennes which he also captured.

Lincoln Monument—The monument where Lincoln is buried, was built by popular subscription between 1869 and 1871, by the National Lincoln Monument association. In 1895 the monument, which is in Oak Ridge cemetery, was turned over to the state. It is the mecca for thousands of visitors every year.

The Lincoln Homestead—The only residence Lincoln ever owned is at the northeast corner of Eighth and Jackson streets in Springfield. Here Lincoln lived at the time of his nomination. The house was built in 1839. It was acquired by the state in 1887.

Old Salem Park—The former home town of Lincoln is being restored to its original state. A number of buildings already have been restored and a museum has been erected by the state. It is in a beautiful location on a hill above the Sangamon river.

Vandalia Court House—The first capitol of Illinois built on its present site in Vandalia in 1822 and now stands in the center of a park 320 feet square. It is a plain two story building constructed of brick in good preservation. The 51st general assembly appropriated $60,000 for its purchase.

Douglas monument—The remains of Stephen A. Douglas lie buried beneath this monument in Chicago. It is bounded by Woodland park, the Illinois Central tracks, 35th street and by the alley west of the Illinois Central. The monument is a granite shaft surmounted by a figure of the distinguished Illinois senator. The shaft is 104 feet high.

A Beautiful Spot—Starved Rock park—Reputed to be the most beautiful spot between the Allegheny and the Rocky Mountains. It was the scene of the last stand of the Illinois Indians, the site of Fort St. Louis established by LaSalle, and the site of the first mission in Illinois, established by Father Marquette. In 1911 the state purchased 280 acres of land surrounding the rock for $146,000. Since then the area of the park has been increased to 900 acres and is valued at $350,000. The state is developing here a model tourist camp.

Metamora court house—This old building was the forensic home of many lawyers. There were times when Abraham Lincoln, Adlai E. Stevenson, Judge David Davis and Robert G. Ingersoll all met under the roof of this building. Here was assembled a future great president and vice president, a future judge of the supreme court and the greatest orator of his time. The court house was transferred to the state August 26, 1921.

LaSalle's Old Fort—Fort Creve Coeur—This fort was built by LaSalle, who came down from Canada in 1680 to take the country for France, as a protection for his men from Indians. It is commonly supposed that LaSalle, defeated by his misfortunes, called the place "Creve Coeur" (broken heart) on that account.

Dixon block house—Abraham Lincoln served as a soldier in this block house in the Black Hawk war in 1832. The block house is famous also because of General Zachary Taylor, later president, John Reynolds, later governor of Illinois, General Adkin, Lieutenant Anderson, defender of Fort Sumter, and Jeff Davis, later confederate states president, were all quartered here.

Shabbona park—Shabbona park comprises seven and one-half acres 14 miles north of Ottawa. It is the scene of the massacre of 15 men and women by Black Hawk's band. Shabbona, chief of the Pottawatamies, but a friend of the whites, saved most of the white settlers from an Indian massacre by riding 100 miles to the nearest white settlement and warning the palefaces of the approaching danger. Fifteen settlers failed to heed the warning and were sacrificed.

BLACKBERRIES FOR SALE—Come and get them fresh from the patch. Call 6220 Thomas O'Connell before coming.

BACK FROM CAMP—A group of boys who have been spending the past week at the Rotary club house at Meredosia under the auspices of the Social Service League, returned to the city yesterday noon, healthy and brown. The camp was under the direction of the Rev. G. E. Strickney.

RETURN HOME—The Misses Helen and Mildred Glabe who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. Homer Rowland at her home on Richard street, have returned to their home in St. Joseph, Missouri.

REAL POTATO BREAD—Get it at SMITH'S Federal Bakery. Whole Wheat Bran Gluten, Twin White and regular White Bread. We carry a full line of cookies and cakes. West State, second door east of Journal office.

When Amended—Once on the floor of the house they are subject to amendment by the members and after passage they are sent to the other house. Invariably the houses do not agree on the content of the "omnibus" bill and a conference committee composed of five members of each house meets and agrees on the changes to be made and reports to the houses. As a rule this report is adopted after the members have had three days to examine it. The bill then goes to the governor for his approval. He may veto any items he sees fit.

The enormous amount of labor and technical knowledge necessary for the drafting of the "omnibus" bill makes the position of chairman of the committee on appropriations of the house a very important one as he must be acquainted with the requirements and personnel of every department and adjust them in one harmonious whole.

Dr. James A. Day will be absent from his Jacksonville office in the Duncan Building until August 3.

PRIZE BABY SHOW AT ILLINOIS STATE FAIR

SPRINGFIELD.—(By the A. P.)—The prize cow, pig and horse are not going to have all the attention in the live exhibit department of the Illinois State Fair this year. A new rival in the person of the prize baby is going to push them hard for honors this time.

While farmers are selecting their show animals and preparing them for the stock shows and fairs of the coming autumn, Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, director of the department of public health, is urging that more intelligent attention be given to the development of perfect specimens of the human race.

"Farmers organizations are offering prizes to boys and girls pig and calf clubs," said Dr. Rawlings. "By this means it is intended to impress upon the young farmers the necessity for striving for the highest possible degree of perfection in livestock, and at the same time make life on the farms more enticing to the younger generation."

"But what of that infinitely more valuable creature, the baby? Is it not of more importance to insure the growth of perfect babies than to perfect animals?"

"We believe that the perfect baby should be the climax of human achievement, and to this end better baby conferences will be held throughout the state this summer, either under direct provision of representatives of the department of health or under standards set by the department. Seven better baby conferences have been held at the Illinois state fair, and each succeeding conference has been better and more comprehensive than its predecessor. It is our intention to make the coming conference of state wide interest in order that it shall be the one big outstanding human interest of the 1923 fair."

A prize of $100 is to be awarded the baby scoring the highest number of points. The contestants will be the winners at community and county conferences to be held this summer throughout the state.

QUEEN/SUPAYALAT
A Legend of Mandalay

I.

King Thibaw smiled from his teakwood throne,
Addressing his friends in a sanguine tone:

"I have walked in the ways of my fathers of old,
And by Buddha's grace I have attained much gold;

"A handsome pagoda I now will build,
And thickly its pinnacles I shall gild;

"A thousand workers at my command
Shall make it the comeliest in the land.

"Advise me now what style is the best,
That my pagoda may surpass the rest."

"Like a Hindu temple it should be,"
Answered the noble Htaik Tin Gyi.

"Nay," Bo Shwe said, with an angry sigh,
"Let a single spire point toward the sky."

II.

Small sandals shuffled across the floor;
Queen Supayalat came through the door.

Her fingers tore at a waist of silk;
Her palm was a cup for dripping milk.

"Who dares have a better plan than mine?
Be this the pattern or your shrine;

"For what is so fair as a woman's breast,
By the lips of a new-born babe caressed?"

III.

A thousand workers endured the sun,
Till the great pagoda at last was done;

The walls were whitewashed all around;
The top with a golden nipple crowned.

King Thibaw's bones in the earth were laid,
But pilgrims flock to the shrine he made—

Hilarious Burmans on festival days,
Chanting their hymns in Buddha's praise;

For what is so fair as a woman's breast,
By the lips of a new-born babe caressed?"

—WAYNE GARD.

(NOTE: Altho Mr. Gard's poem is complete in itself, the following passage from some of his correspondence may add a few points of interest.)

"Last March, on my way upcountry, when about five miles from Sagaing (near Mandalay), I noticed from the train an enormous pagoda built in the exact shape of the full breast of a woman in lactation, with its nipple at the top. In fact, the likeness was so obvious that no one would be apt to take the pagoda to represent anything else. One's first guess might be that this was a phallic representation of some kind, but a life-resident of Burma gave me a different explanation. King Thibaw (he said) had some money which he wanted to put into a pagoda which would bring glory and merit upon himself, and was discussing with his ministers the question of a design for the proposed shrine. They could not agree. Supayalat then interfered; she lifted or opened her ainkyi (waist) disclosing her breasts. 'Why not make it like this?' she asked. Her recommendation, as usual, was followed. This incident may never have taken place, but I would not be at all surprised if it did. Burmese women usually are pretty careful about keeping their breasts covered, but Supayalat was not an ordinary woman."

C. General Patrick formerly was an engineer officer. He entered upon his present duties in 1921, and several months ago began taking flying instructions.

The $218,439,556 which the United States spends for her army is only 7.75 per cent of her total revenue, while France, with an army bill of 5,000,000,000 francs, spends 18.66 per cent of her annual tax collections. Russia spends 33.74 per cent of her annual income on the Red army; Japan 16.19 per cent; Italy 14.90 per cent; United Kingdom 9.52 per cent; and Germany is last with 4.92 per cent.

At the closing session of the National Disabled Veterans' League, which recently met in Boston, Mass., resolutions against the participation of the United States in any world court or league of nations, and favoring the enactment of legislation to permit the use of light wines and beer, were adopted. The passage of legislation prohibiting street soliciting of funds for charitable purposes was also favored.

THIS MAN INTENDS TO KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE

"In May or June, 1913, I sent to you and got four bottles which were worth many dollars to me. They enabled me to go to work again. I had lost 40 pounds, but these 4 bottles of May's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble gained back all I had lost and I feel like a new man since. I shall keep it in the house all the time." It is a simple, harmless, preparation that removes the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all Druggists. Adv.

WATERPOWER TAKING INDUSTRIES FROM CITIES

CHICAGO. (By A. P.)—With motion pictures, radio and numerous other industries that have come along with the electrical age, the country no longer is a "loose" place," and with transmission of power by hydro-electric energy an accomplished fact, manufacturing is receding from the congested, expensive districts to the open areas, according to a bulletin of the Illinois Committee on Public Utility Information.

The new development is as natural as it is contradictory to the early methods of our national growth," states the bulletin.

"Waterpower, the greatest of all our undeveloped natural resources, is making the change not only possible, but economically desirable. And because it is desirable for that reason, the process of decentralization has commenced.

"As industries change their sites, leaving the great centers for the open spaces, there will go with these institutions the people whose labor makes them possible. These observations are backed by public reports, and 'big business is moving with the drift'."

FRECKLES

March Brings Out Unusually Spots—How to Remove Easily.

The woman with tender skin dreads March because it is likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and wind have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind. Othline double strength makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength Othline should remove them.

Get an ounce from your druggist and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

TO PROTECT AUTOISTS FROM ACCIDENT

Springfield —(By the A. P.)—The painting of black and white stripes on the state pavements at the approaches to railroad crossings is an experiment the state highway department has undertaken to protect automobilists from accidents. The black and white bands are placed 100 feet apart, starting 400 feet from the crossing on each side. The bands are one foot wide.

The stripes have been painted at 33 grade crossings in various parts of the state as an experiment, the idea being to call the automobilist driver's attention to the railroad danger in plenty of time to permit him to slow down. If the signals prove satisfactory they are to be placed at the approaches to all grade crossings.

BUYS PARK STREET HOME

C. O. Gordon, the new member of the firm of F. J. Waddell & Company, has purchased the residence of Mrs. G. C. Guthrie on Park street. Prior to taking possession on August first, Mr. Gordon is planning to paint the house and make other minor improvements. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and sons and Mrs. Gordon's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cline, will move into their new home just as soon as possible.

This house was planned and built by the late G. C. Guthrie a few years ago and it has since been counted one of the beauty spots of this location. Thru their untiring efforts Mr. and Mrs.

Guthrie made a collection of some of the best shrubbery to be found anywhere in the city, and it is with very serious regret that Mrs. Guthrie parts with her beautiful home. In a few days she will join friends in western points where she will spend the summer.

The Gordon family is particularly delighted with the splendid array of flowers and shrubbery in the rear of their home as they own a home in the city of Spokane, Wash., where much attention is given to landscaping about the homes. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Cline lived in Jacksonville for many years and they express their complete satisfaction in being so well located in the future home in business and their home among their former friends in Jacksonville and Morgan county.

CROP CONDITIONS IN ILLINOIS ARE GENERALLY GOOD

Report Compiled by Agricultural Statistician in Detail

SPRINGFIELD—(By the A. P.)—Hay crop considerably below average, pastures above average, tree fruits fair to poor, and small fruits and vegetables above average are reported by the federal crop reporting service for Illinois in the July 1 survey of crop conditions, issued today.

The report, compiled by A. J. Surraat, agricultural statistician, continues as follows:

"The state prospect for all hay remains low. The July 1 report shows a condition of 76, compared with the average of 82. The crop forecast for all hay is 3,888,000 tons, compared with the average of 4,057,000 tons. Clover fields are spotted and weedy and show a condition for the state of only 67, compared with the ten year average of 84. There are some favorable timothy stands but the bulk of the crop is inclined to be thin. Alfalfa and millet condition are above average. Pastures are above average in the south half of the state and have shown some improvement in the north although still below average, due to early spring drought and cool weather.

The state apple crop prospect of 70 per cent of normal shows a fall of nine points from last month, owing somewhat to a heavy June drop. No unusual damage from insects or disease is reported. The indicated total production for Illinois is 6,656,000 bushels, compared with the average of 4,779,000 bushels. The United States commercial apple crop is estimated at 33,068,000 barrels, compared with the average of 25,741,000 barrels. The July 1 condition of 50 for peaches indicates a crop of 733,000 bushels for Illinois, compared with the five year average (1916-1921) of 351,000 bushels. Small fruit prospects are above average for the state.

"White potatoes show a condition of 90, compared with the ten year average of 86. Condition of sweet potatoes is slightly above the average. Tomatoes, cabbage and onions have progressed quite favorably and show a high condition for the month. The soy bean acreage has about doubled this year, and both the condition of soy beans and cow peas is reported well above the average.

"The estimated condition of other crops for Illinois with the ten year average in parentheses is as follows:

Barley, 86 (90); Peas, 60 (55); Grapes, 85 (80); Blackberries, 89 (93); Watermelons, 80 (78); Tomatoes 90 (87); Cabbages, 88 (83); Onions 90 (89).

Blood!

"I am strong, energetic, vigorous, happy!" says Fighting Blood. "My nerves are steady. I am young! My tissues and flesh are free from the accumulation of waste products and impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema, rheumatism! I never have that tired, worn-out, run-down feeling! My health is all that is good. I am life itself!"

Blood-cells are the fighting giants of nature! S.S.S. builds them by the millions! It has been doing it since 1826. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients.

Because S.S.S. does build blood-cells, it stops pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema, rheumatism! It builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion and builds you up when you are run-down.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Mt. Zion Ladies Aid Meets—G. T. S. Club in Session—Other Neighborhood Items.

The Mt. Zion Ladies Aid society met recently at the home of Mrs. Douglas Hunt. The president, Mrs. Ross Long, was in the chair during the business session. One new member, Miss Rowena Johnson was taken into the society at this time, and various matters of business were given attention.

The occasion was also the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Myrtle Paschall, one of the members, and in honor of this event the members brought refreshments with them and a beautiful spread was enjoyed. Mrs. Allison Thomson, who has been ill for a number of months past, was able to be present for the first time in many months, and was gladly welcomed back by all the members present. Mrs. Sturdy was a guest of the society.

The Markham G. T. S. club met recently with Mrs. Oliver Hunt, with practically all the members present. Mrs. W. G. Wolfe was present as a guest. Two new members, Mrs. George Megginson and Mrs. John Wilson, were taken into the organization during the brief business session.

Added interest was given the program by a talk by Miss Norma Perbix, who told in a very entertaining way of her recent tour of Europe. Miss Perbix told especially of the Passion Play which she witnessed while abroad and her remarks were very much enjoyed by all those present. Mrs. S. P. Cleary presided in place of the president, Mrs. R. H. Blimling who has been ill and did not feel equal to the task of presiding.

Louis Perbix and the members of his family have all been suffering from the summer flu but are now much improved.

Miss Aileen Austin of Franklin and Miss Margaret Black of Springfield are visiting at the home of R. B. Marshall.

Misses Ethel and Eleanor Cully of the Ebenezer neighborhood are visiting Wilbur Williams and family.

Douglas Hunt is reported on the sick list.

NOTICE

That Arthur M. Abernathy and William F. Swift who have heretofore been operating a cleaning and pressing business known as the West Side Cleaning Co. at 38 N. Side Sq., have mutually agreed to dissolve partnership. Said Abernathy has purchased all right, title and interest of said Swift and will collect all outstanding accounts for his own use and pay all outstanding partnership claims.

Sunday school and we have a place for you. The hour is 9:30. Morning worship at 10:45, under the pastor's leadership. The sermon theme is "How Shall We Think of Man?" The Y. P. S. C. E. will meet at 6:30 o'clock. Evening services will be held on Grace church lawn at 7:30.

CHURCHES INCREASE USE OF NEWSPAPERS

CHICAGO.—(By the A. P.)—An increasing use of the advertising columns of the newspapers by the parish organizations of the Episcopal church in the United States is reported by the Rev. Robert F. Gibson, executive secretary of the department of publicity of the National Council of the church, who has just completed a series of conferences with diocesan leaders in all sections of the country.

"Some of this advertising is by individual parishers, some by groups of parishes, some in combination with churches of other communions. Apparently most of it still consists of church notes or display advertisements of special services or meetings and invitations to come to church. But there is a rapidly growing conviction that church advertising should contain matter which has an evangelistic purpose, statements about Christianity and the church and the application of Christian principles. Many experiments in this sort of advertising were reported to me."

Nathan Neal was among the Saturday callers from Arcadia.

JEWETT SIX PAIGE BUILT

Try to Match Its Performance

REMEMBER, Jewett is a SIX at the price of a four! Try to match its flexibility—from 2 to 60 miles an hour in high. Or its acceleration—from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds, in high. Or in road comfort—Jewett's springs are 80 percent of wheelbase. Or in sturdy construction—Jewett's frame is 6 inches deep; it weighs 200 pounds more than any car its size. Or try to pass a Jewett on any hill. Demonstration any time.

Market Report

FUTURE DELIVERIES
IN WHEAT DROP

CHICAGO, July 14.—All future
deliveries of wheat dropped today to a new low price record for the season. Favorable prospects for the spring crop and a decline in Liverpool quotations together with weekend adjustment of traders here had a decided bearish effect. The market closed heavy,
11 to 13c net lower, Sept. 98½
and December 1.01½ to 1.01½.
Corn finished unchanged to 1c down, oats 1 to 1½c off and provisions at 2c to 15c decline.

With reports at hand indicating that spring wheat is making an excellent race against black-rust developments the majority of traders showed a disposition to assume that the domestic spring crop would mature before there is any serious damage. Estimates that Canada would raise 500,000,000 bushels were generally looked upon here as exaggerated, but it was conceded that the crop outlook in Canada is first time with average about same as last year. Under such circumstances weakness shown by the Liverpool market was quickly reflected here and was further emphasized by hedging sales and by increased offerings for commission houses.

For the most part buying power in the wheat market seemed to be confined to traders who were previously had been on the selling side and who were in a position to collect profits.

New export business was said to aggregate only 200,000 bushels. Predictions of an enlarged movement of winter wheat to primary centers on Monday and thereafter counted as a bearish influence. Week end adjustment of trades added to the selling pressure at the last and the finish was at the day's bottom figures. Showers in Texas and Oklahoma eased the corn market
after an early advance ascribed to dry hot weather southwest.

Oats followed corn.
Downturns in hog values weakened provisions.
